

HOMES TO GET NOD AT FACTORY SITE

Report by Tom Oakley

A HOUSING estate at a former valve works could finally be given the go-ahead this week – three years after plans for the site were first unveiled.

Proposals for up to 116 homes at the former Parker Hannifin site at Walkmill Lane, Bridgtown, have been recommended for approval by Cannock Chase District Council officers.

The eight-acre plot had previously been targeted for a 93-home development submitted by Schroder Property but the council's planning committee rejected the proposal because the firm claimed it was too expensive to deliver any affordable housing.

Meanwhile, the Homes and Communities Agency (HCA) behind the most recent application, has vowed to allocate up to 23 affordable properties in its scheme.

The land was previously earmarked by the council as a strategic site for housing in its long-term development strategy.

Conditions

The council's planning committee, which has been recommended to approve the project subject to a number of conditions, was set to make a decision on the plans at a meeting yesterday (Wednesday).

Provisos includes the completion of a section 106 agreement between the developers and local authority, to secure the provision of 20 per cent affordable housing and almost £40,000 for off-site provision and enhancement of public open among other criteria.

The HCA, backed by property consultancy, Cushman & Wakefield, are behind the outline plans for the housing development at the brownfield site.

Plans to redevelop the old manufacturing plant first came to light in March 2015, when an application emerged to build 93 homes at the site.

Parker Hannifin moved from the eight-acre factory site in Bridgtown about 11 years ago with the loss of 140 jobs.

Claire Biddle from the HCA's planning and development team said: "The proposals will visually and physically improve this brownfield site, providing green space and an attractive frontage along Walkmill Lane.

"The wider area is becoming more residential in character, and the proposed mixture of housing and apartments will contribute to this growing neighbourhood."

CANOEISTS MAKE SPLASH IN MARATHON EVENT

Elliott Coops takes off for the Gailey Canoe club annual flat water marathon race on the Staffordshire and Worcestershire Canal

DOZENS of canoeists powered along a canal for a marathon event.

Gailey Canoe Club were the hosts, welcoming top canoeists from across the Midlands and beyond to race down the Staffordshire and Worcestershire Canal.

The races were organised as part of the Hasler Series of flat water canoeing contests from the likes of Runcorn and Bristol.

The Series is named after Herbert 'Blondie' Hasler, who led Operation Frankton, a Second World War commando raid in double kayaks on the port of Bordeaux. The story of the raid was made into a 1955 film, The Cockleshell Heroes.

Gailey Canoe Club secretary Louise Clive said the event had proved a resounding success. She said: "It went brilliantly – the weather definitely did us a favour.

"We are the third event of the year and the previous two were called off because of bad weather – so we got the first one.

"It makes a massive difference having the sun out and everyone was raring to get back out."

Some 92 canoeists from 13 different clubs took to the water on Sunday for races ranging from four to 12 miles.

Canoeists carried out loops of the canal from the club's base off Croft Lane in Gailey.

Mrs Clive, who runs the club alongside her husband John, said: "Our oldest member is 74 and he was out there at the weekend.

Bogus callers conn elderly couple out of £11,000 savings

BOGUS water officials conned an elderly Great Wyrley couple out of £11,000 of their hard-earned savings. The grandparents say they have now lost faith in humanity.

Kath Chetter says she was conned into opening the front door to the bogus officials on March 13. She and her husband Ray had been saving the cash to plan their funerals. Three valuable blue crested chickens were also taken.

Mrs Chetter, aged 83, let the man in after he claimed the mains on their road had burst and he needed to turn off their water. Her husband was ill in bed and it was only when Mrs Chetter saw a second man in her living room with a bag in his hand, that she realised she was being burgled.

Family member Matt Boddice said: "They had saved money to pay for their funeral costs so the burden wouldn't be on their family when the time came. They have both worked so hard and this whole incident is totally heartbreaking.

"As they had recently been having problems with their water supply, they just accepted that these men in reflective jackets were there to help them."

A Staffordshire police spokesman said: "We are warning people to be on their guard against suspicious callers at the door."

Mrs Chetter said her confidence had now 'gone completely' and that she would 'never trust again'.

An appeal has been set up to recover what was lost at justgiving.com/crowdfunding/matthew-boddice

Heartbreak prompts marathon effort

Raul Romero and Lesley Knight

A PERSONAL trainer will run the London Marathon for one of his clients after hearing her heartbreaking story.

Raul Romero was training Lesley Knight, from Burntwood, last year when she told him how she had lost her only child Tom, aged 11, in a road accident.

Since then, she has been supporting the HELP Appeal dedicated to funding hospital helipads. The 39-year-old decided he wanted to help too, and so has trained relentlessly for the 26 mile run in April to honour his promise to help Lesley and raise money for the HELP Appeal, for which she is an ambassador.

Meanwhile, a keen runner who works at Cannock-based Briggs Equipment is on track to pound the streets of the capital after reaching her fundraising target for the company's chosen charity – Newlife the Charity for Disabled Children.

Toni Collier raised £2,000 through sponsorship and events including a Christmas raffle and an 80s night at The Soldiers Club in Hednesford. Briggs Equipment topped up by £500 so Toni reached the target needed to win a place on Newlife's marathon team for the event taking place on April 22.

We're not dreaming of a white Easter (again!)

THE clocks may have signalled the beginning of British Summer Time but a bleak Easter weekend is forecast with snow on the way for some.

The cold blast will be a stark reminder of five years ago, when Easter fell on the same weekend, and we saw a white blanket cover the area.

The year of 2013 was the second coldest March in 100 years, records showed.

The mean temperature was 2.2C (36F) more than 3C colder than the long-term monthly average. It equalled the average temperature in March 1947 with only March 1962 colder at 1.9C (35F).

In the Black Country temperatures plunged to as low as minus 12.5C (9F), and the snow caused Easter events across the county to be cancelled.

There were postcard pictures at beauty spots across the area such as Cannock Chase, Wolverhampton's West Park and the south Staffordshire countryside, though high snow drifts loomed over many roads including those alongside Pottal Pool Road on the Chase.

From late March to early April in 2013 the country suffered a prolonged spell of freezing temperatures with winds bringing in bitterly cold air from northern Europe and Siberia – just as the UK has experienced so far this year with the 'Beast from the East'.

Up to 20cm of snow fell, especially on higher ground, and there was significant drifting caused by the strong easterly wind. The snow remained on the ground until early April.

White Eastertides have been recorded in 1998, 2008, and 2013.

Though this time the Midlands looks set to escape the worst of the weather we can expect unsettled conditions, blustery and wet days with an unsettled bank holiday weekend.

Meteorologist Martin Bowles warned: "We will get colder weather from Wednesday onwards, continuing over the Easter weekend."

Oatcake to get a tasty tribute for good causes

THE biggest-ever celebration of the oatcake is being planned.

With the help of Staffordshire County Council and other local authorities, Enjoy Staffordshire is co-ordinating the World's Biggest Oatcake Morning, with events taking place across the county on Staffordshire Day – Tuesday, May 1.

Taking inspiration from Macmillan's World's Biggest Coffee Morning, the events will see guests make donations to charity to cover the cost of their oatcakes and other refreshments.

Hosts can support a charity of their choice, or pick from a list of good causes suggested by Enjoy Staffordshire, which will help publicise the events and provide promotional materials.

Charities

Enjoy Staffordshire is also encouraging charities to organise their own oatcake morning fundraisers, with The Douglas Macmillan Hospice at Stoke-on-Trent the first to get on board.

Councillor Mark Winnington, cabinet member for economic growth at Staffordshire County Council and vice-chairman of Enjoy Staffordshire, said: "There is no better way to celebrate Staffordshire Day than by tucking into a great local delicacy like an oatcake."

"We want as many oatcake mornings going on across the county as possible." For further information, visit www.enjoystaffordshire.com/staffsday

Libraries survey deadline nears

TIME is running out to have a say on Staffordshire's libraries consultation.

More than 1,400 responses have already been received in advance of the April 1 deadline. A series of public events have been held at libraries and mobile and travelling library stops throughout the 12-week consultation.

Discussions have included potentially using technology to maintain and extend opening hours with an automated service, possibly increasing the number of community managed libraries and reviewing how the mobile and travelling service is used.

Anyone else who wants to share their opinion can fill in a questionnaire at a library, email connectedlibraries@staffordshire.gov.uk or go to www.staffordshire.gov.uk/connectedlibraries

Fraudsters claim to be police to steal money

FRAUDSTERS are cold calling victims purporting to be police officers in Staffordshire.

Police have been made aware of a reoccurring crime where victims are being cold called by 'fake officers'.

Their aim is to obtain money as well as personal and financial information. Victims have received a phone call from a fraudster who tells them they are speaking to a police officer and that they need them to assist in an investigation. The caller provides a collar number and states which constabulary they are calling from - making the call more believable.

The fraudster tells the victim that they are in possession of a bank card in their name and asks them to confirm their bank account details.

They then advise them to call another number where they are then advised that they are at risk of being defrauded and required to withdraw or transfer money in order to assist with the investigation.

Staffordshire Police are urging people never to give out personal or financial information to anyone over the phone and pointing out that banks and the police would never ask someone to aid an investigation by withdrawing or transferring money.

Anyone who receives one of these calls should end it immediately and call Staffordshire Police on 101 or call Action Fraud on 0300 123 2040.

Churches' salute to all seafarers

THE world's oldest maritime welfare charity is asking churches in Cannock to remember the world's seafarers in a special service.

Congregations from around the world will take part in Sea Sunday services on July 8 in aid of the Sailors' Society. Each year, the Christian charity, which celebrated its 200th birthday on March 18, asks church-goers to pray and give thanks for the world's 1.6 million seafarers.

Sailors' Society CEO Stuart Rivers said: "Whether they know it or not, the people of Cannock rely upon seafarers. More than 90 per cent of everything we own comes by sea - our clothes, phones, cars - even the bricks that make up our homes."

Good news bell is launched at hospital

Sandra Perkins tries out the bell

A 'GOOD NEWS' bell to celebrate the end of a patient's cancer treatment has been installed at a hospital.

Olympic athlete Denise Lewis attended the unveiling ceremony at New Cross Hospital in Wolverhampton where she chatted to patients and staff. Another bell is due to be installed at Cannock Chase Hospital.

The bell is designed to give patients the chance to shout out their final chemotherapy session.

It is also a symbol of hope for patients still undergoing treatment. One of the first people to use it was Sandra Perkins, who underwent a three-week course of radiography after being diagnosed with breast cancer.

She said: "It is absolutely marvelous to ring that bell as it is a big day for me. The treatments have gone quite quickly thanks to the amazing staff who treated and supported me."

The bell was officially launched by Gillian Phillips, chairwoman of Breast Cancer Support Group, who was instrumental in obtaining it.

Funded by the charity End of Treatment Bells, the New Cross bell is located outside the reception to Deanesly Ward. The Cannock Chase bell will be installed in the chemotherapy unit.

Tracey Weetman, Macmillan nurse consultant in cancer care at The Royal Wolverhampton NHS Trust, said: "I am truly delighted that both chemotherapy and radiotherapy patients will be able to mark the end of a significant phase in their treatment by ringing the bell. I am honoured and privileged to be here."

The Cannock Chase Hospital bell is due to be unveiled shortly.

Bus operator confirms axe for Sunday services

BUS operator Arriva has confirmed a string of Sunday services will be axed from this weekend despite a public outcry.

A number of route changes announced by Arriva will also take effect from April 1.

Following Staffordshire County Council's decision to remove funding for several routes, Arriva took the 'commercial' decision to remove all services on Sundays from its Cannock depot. It said it could no longer afford to keep the services running - and the decision would also have knock-on effects during the week.

Changes to 19 routes and timetable alterations have now been confirmed.

Petitions had been launched to stop the services being lost but Arriva has now updated its website confirming which services will be hit.

A petition on change.org, started by Lee Murphy, demanded the council reverse its decision to cut funding and has been signed by almost 2,000 people.

Reaction

The changes by Arriva will affect services travelling from Cannock to Walsall, Lichfield, Stafford and Wolverhampton as well as several Stafford services.

A statement by Arriva says: "We recognise that this course of action will impact bus users, and can assure you that this decision was not taken without due consideration. It is solely as a response to the financial implications that the withdrawal of the council subsidies will have on our local business."

For details of the bus services affected visit www.arrivabus.co.uk/midlands/Latest/cannock-stafford-routes-to-be-withdrawn-on-evenings-sundays-from-1-april-2018/

Meanwhile, almost 800 people have backed a petition launched by defence secretary Gavin Williamson against the withdrawal of the Sunday bus services in his south Staffordshire constituency.

Cannock Chase MP Amanda Milling described the cuts as 'a real blow to bus passengers.' She said: "There are many people who rely on buses to get out and about."

Firefighters Russell Brown, Jason Humphries and Mitch Stafford, who are cycling from Cannock to Devon for two worthwhile causes

Blazing a trail on 240-mile cycle ride

FIREFIGHTERS will tackle a 240-mile bike ride to raise money for two good causes.

Cannock Fire Station's watch manager Russ Brown will cycle from Uttoxeter to Combe Martin in Devon.

He will be joined by fellow watch manager Mitch Stafford, who works at Uttoxeter as well as David Clewlow, a firefighter in Leek and Cannock colleague Jason Humphries.

They begin the mammoth task on Monday - raising money for the Fire Fighters Charity and Macmillan Cancer Support. Mr Brown's father is currently being treated for lung cancer.

He said: "We really want to raise as much as possible, which is why we are attempting such a mammoth task, to cycle 240 miles, which none of us have ever attempted in a week let alone two days."

No rise in tipping despite charges

CHARGES at Staffordshire tips have not contributed to a rise in long-term fly-tipping, council figures show.

A county council report says the number of fly-tipping incidents stayed unchanged over the 12 months after the charge began in November 2016 or they rose briefly before decreasing again. It adds that April-June 2017 saw the lowest number of 'small scale' fly-tipping incidents for two years.

However, Gill Heath, community chief at the council, said: "There has been a rise in recent years of criminal gangs dumping tons of commercial waste in the countryside."

Schools stage cuts protests

ALMOST 100 schools in Staffordshire and the Black Country staged protests against cuts to education funding.

Banners claiming to reveal the 'real terms cut to school budgets' were put up outside 53 schools in Walsall, while another 44 schools in the Black Country and Staffordshire also took part.

Thursday's demonstrations, organised by headteachers, staff and councillors, highlighted the pressure schools face from government cuts.

Russell Bragger, general secretary of the National Education Union, said: "We're really concerned."

Landlords put off by stamp fee bid

THE change in stamp duty has put the majority of landlords off investing in further rental property, according to the Residential Landlords Association.

It says the additional three per cent on buy-to-let homes has seen 69 per cent of landlords deterred from fresh investment.

Jonathon Ivory, managing director of Atlas Residential, said: "Just as the UK needs more rental homes than ever before, the stamp duty change has significantly dented investors' interest in providing those homes.

"Thankfully, the build-to-rent sector is growing rapidly."

Redrow urges pay rise for trainees

HOUSEBUILDER Redrow in the Midlands is calling for higher wages for apprentices and a complete rethink in the way they are taught English and maths.

The firm wants increased apprentice pay rates, saying that low wages are putting young people off schemes.

In addition, Redrow's new report Building Better Apprenticeships found that one in 10 parents in the Midlands say loss of family benefits when their child starts is a problem.

Also, maths and English tuition as part of an apprenticeship is 'not fit for purpose' says Redrow, and is too theoretical according to education experts.

Cheers! As firms brew up bronze

BREWERIES in Brownhills, Bewdley and Stone took bronze medals at an awards. Judging took place at the Beer X event in Liverpool.

Backyard Brewhouse, Brownhills, was third in the cask premium bitter and pale ale category with its 4.45 per cent Gold. Bewdley Brewery took bronze with 3.6 per cent Worcestershire Way in the keg category and Stone's Limestone Brewery did the same with Cherry Stone, a 5.2 per cent beer, in the small pack section.

Call first, message to people with bugs

THE West Midlands branch of Public Health England is urging people to support their local NHS by calling before visiting health services if they are ill with a stomach bug.

The request comes after significantly higher levels of stomach bugs, including norovirus, have been recorded in the region. Dr Helen Carter said: "People feeling unwell can call their GP or NHS111 for advice."

Janet has magic touch for her first novel

Janet Lee

A FORMER reporter with the Chronicle's sister paper, the Express & Star, has written her first full-length novel. Mistress Magic is Janet Lee's fifth publication.

Semi-autobiographical about her time as a singer in a rock band, it also delves into the world of magic and paranormal, as well as including an intense love story. It centres on Janine, lead singer of a band called Mistress, who is a teacher with a taste for leather mini-skirts and thigh-length boots.

The band is doing well, but strange, mystical things keep happening at their concerts. One show in Manchester gets the band recognised more for their special effects than their music, but it also gets them banned.

Then, Janine meets Dion, lead singer of Son of Gabriel, and life changes altogether.

However, as his dark side emerges, will the magical phenomena stay with them?

Janet, who lives in Norton Canes, has a long-term partner Alex, a son Kevin and two grandchildren, Tom and Grace.

A retired lecturer in English and creative writing, she runs a charity, Paul's Fun Fund, which raises money for leukaemia research as a tribute to her eldest son Paul, who lost his battle with the disease in 2011, aged 37.

£2m funding pledge to tackle county's potholes

By David Cosgrove

MORE than £2 million of funding has been awarded to tackle potholes on roads in Staffordshire.

The county was given £2.2m of a £3m cashpot from the Department for Transport following damage caused by freezing winter conditions.

The cash is on top of £75 million in Government funding already given to councils this year, as well as a £46 million boost for highways authorities announced just before Christmas.

Transport Secretary Chris Grayling said: "People rely on good roads to get to work and to see friends or family.

"We have seen an unusually prolonged spell of freezing weather which has caused damage to our local roads.

Treatments

"We are giving councils even more funding so all road users can enjoy their journeys without having to dodge potholes."

In Staffordshire the county council has already pledged to spend an extra £5m on potholes and preventative treatments this year – on top of the £5m extra it spent last year.

Helen Fisher, cabinet support member for highways and transport, said: "Good roads are important not only for getting us from A to B, but for continuing to grow a strong economy.

"In Staffordshire, we will have invested an extra £10m over two years both in tackling potholes and in preventative treatment to help stop them occurring in the first place.

"Last year this allowed us to fix around 35,000 potholes compared to 20,000 in a typical year. With a county the size of Staffordshire this is always going to be a challenge so I am pleased that the Government has announced this extra funding."

Heart screening in memory of Neil

Neil Bradbury, who died suddenly at the age of 35, with girlfriend Amy Windle

TWO heart-screening days were held in honour of a man who died suddenly of an undiagnosed heart condition.

Kingsmead High School in Hednesford hosted the events in memory of Neil Bradbury, alongside Cardiac Risk in the Young (CRY).

The screening days were organised by Neil's long-term girlfriend, Amy Windle, and his family after Neil, of Littleworth Road, Hednesford, died in November 2015 at the age of 35.

Throughout the weekend, 186 people, aged 14 to 35, were tested to ensure they had no cardiac abnormalities. Of the 186 tested, three people were referred to their GP for further testing. Since Neil's death, Amy and his family have raised more than £13,500 for CRY, which paid for the two heart-screening days to take place.

Amy said: "Losing Neil so suddenly was absolutely devastating. Alongside Neil's family and friends, I've been so determined to raise the money for the two screening days in Neil's memory.

"If one life has been saved by our screening weekend, Neil's death will not have been in vain."

Amy and Neil's family are focusing their fundraising efforts on providing communities with defibrillators.

Royal Mail gives nod to Brereton's address bid

AN MP has welcomed Royal Mail's decision to include Brereton in the postal address system.

It follows calls from local residents and Brereton and Ravenhill Parish Council to keep the name alive.

Previously, Royal Mail, which organises the postal address system, listed only 47 properties in the parish with Brereton in the address, despite there being more than 1,000 houses there.

A public consultation was carried out, and the change was backed by an overwhelming majority of residents.

The change to the official address to include Brereton has now been implemented by Royal Mail.

Residents have received letters from Royal Mail confirming the change, but while Brereton has been included in the address it is essential that Rugeley is included in residents' addresses too, Royal Mail says. If omitted, mail could be subject to delay.

Cannock Chase MP Amanda Milling said: "As a resident of Brereton, I understand how the village has a very strong identity and community spirit, and residents are incredibly proud of this. I am very pleased that Royal Mail have agreed to recognise Brereton's unique status and will include 'Brereton' in the postal address for all houses in the village."

She added: "Whilst it is fantastic news that Brereton has been recognised and will be included in the official address for all houses in the village, it is important that residents continue to include Rugeley and their postcode too, otherwise they may find that their post is subject to delays in being delivered."

Water company's £62k for charity

A WATER firm has raised more than £62,000 for charity – and is supporting a local special needs school with a £1,000 donation.

South Staffs Water made the announcement to mark World Water Day – March 22 – which raises awareness of water-related issues. The initiative was started by the charity WaterAid, which aims to transform millions of lives by providing clean water.

Among the fundraising activities so far has been a charity ball which took place in January and helped raise the majority of the total to date.

The company has also contributed £1,000 to pay for 10 pupils from Castle Business and Enterprise College in Walsall to participate in a residential visit to Beaudesert Park.

Songs for You to help dementia sufferers

HUNDREDS of dementia sufferers are set to get singing as music sessions thanks to funding worth £15,000.

The money will support the Songs for You programme taking place in Stafford, as well as Cannock and Shrewsbury, over the next couple of years, with more than 500 people set to take part.

The Arts for Health team at South Staffordshire and Shropshire Healthcare NHS Foundation Trust has been awarded the funding from the Post-code Community Trust.

Songs for You provides fortnightly singing sessions for people with dementia, their carers and older adults to come together and sing well-known songs as well as some new ones in a safe and friendly environment.

The project is for people who love to sing, have an interest in music or just want to be somewhere joyous and friendly – where they can share interests with others.

Songs for You will be at Walton Village Hall in Green Gore Lane, from April 16 at 1.30pm.

The Cannock sessions start at St Thomas's Church, Stafford Road, Huntington, from April 10 at 1.30pm and in Shrewsbury on April 12 at 2.30pm, at The Trinity Centre, Meole Brace Church.

For more information call Arts for Health project worker Helen Wilson on 07964 208542.

Bosses hopeful over Swift card

COUNCIL bosses are hopeful that Swift card machines will be introduced on the Chase Line 'in the next few weeks'.

They will be introduced at stations including Rugeley Town, Hednesford and Cannock where there will be self-service kiosks which can issue photo cards following a trial in Wolverhampton.

The leader of Cannock Chase Council, Councillor George Adamson, said: "We have asked if it can expand into Cannock and it looks like it should be in place in the next few weeks.

"The card is better for commuters to travel because it gets them off the roads and it makes trains cheaper.

"It will encourage people to use public transport," he added.

Ramblers' outing

CHASE Ramblers' walk this Sunday is an eight-mile moderate walk from Hamstall Ridware, meeting at Hednesford railway station car park for a 9am prompt departure. Call 01543 574036. New walkers are welcome.

Go karting day in memory of tragic Paul

Paul Lee-Davis on the race track

A GO KARTING charity event is to be held on Saturday in memory of Cannock man Paul Lee-Davis, who died from a rare form of leukaemia.

Paul's friend Dan Underhill is running the event for the seventh year in a row. Dan and Paul used to race together at Club100, near Daventry, where the event is being held.

Paul died of T-cell prolymphocytic leukaemia (T-PLL) in 2011.

He was a familiar face at Club100 and was known to many as a larger-than-life, hilarious and fun-loving friend. Dan and Paul's racing friends honour his memory each year by coming together to do what Paul loved most and raise money to help fund research into his extremely rare and aggressive cancer.

Admission to the event is free and there will be a food wagon and auction with prizes such as two VIP tickets to the West End show Fastlove.

The go karting event raises funds for research into T-PLL at the Institute of Cancer Research (ICR), London.

Over the last six years the event has raised £26,000. The racers buy tickets to take part, with proceeds going to the ICR. Tickets to race have already sold out so the organisers expect this year's event to be just as successful as the last.

Dan said: "Paul was such a fantastic friend. We raced together for many years. The response we receive every year is amazing, I'm so grateful for everyone that supports the race day."

Paul's mother Janet Lee said: "I didn't know anyone who didn't like Paul." To support the event and donate to the ICR visit www.justgiving.com/fundraising/pld2018

Newlywed's heartbreak over wife's cancer death

A HEARTBROKEN husband has paid tribute to his wife after she died of cancer just days after they married in hospital.

Julie Elsmore, of Hednesford, tied the knot with her partner of six years Tim in a moving ceremony at New Cross Hospital last week. Tim, aged 51, had proposed to her in the hospital's A&E department in front of staff.

He fought through the tears to describe the devastating loss after his wife of three days died following a three-month battle with cancer.

Tim, a lorry driver, said: "Julie passed away on Saturday night in hospital.

"Everywhere I turn there are reminders of her. To be taken away at 48 is just so cruel. She had a permanent smile and would do anything for anybody. I will always remember her smile and the kindness she had for people – she was always happy.

Amazing

"The six years we had together were amazing, we did so much together – holidays and long weekends. I'm just so glad we got married as we could have run out of time. But it is just totally heartbreaking."

The office manager was diagnosed with a brain tumour earlier this year but the cancer spread to her lungs and doctors said her condition was terminal. Julie, who would have been 49 yesterday (Wednesday), was told she had just weeks to live and the couple decided to marry on Wednesday. The newlyweds returned home to Hednesford on Thursday. But Julie was transferred back to hospital after having trouble with her breathing on Saturday – and died that evening.

The couple had known each other since childhood as they grew up on the same road. Tim said the couple had enjoyed trips abroad – which were Julie's first ventures onto foreign soil. They had spent time on holiday in Spain, Greece, Cyprus, Tenerife and Portugal.

But a planned trip to Hawaii and the USA this year had to be cancelled. The couple were also looking to buy a house.

Julie's parents Geoff and Pat Rowley said: "She was a wonderful daughter to us and sister to her brother Michael."

Blaze at storage container site

A BLAZE at a huge shipping containers yard in Cannock went on for nearly three hours with smoke plumes visible for miles around.

It happened last Wednesday morning after hydraulic lifting machinery at the 30-acre site in Pentilver Way caught fire.

A member of staff using the equipment to move storage containers noticed something smelled like it was burning.

When he got off the machine to investigate, he noticed it was on fire. Staff were immediately evacuated and the depot shut down until it was safe to re-open.

Firefighters from Cannock and Bloxwich were called to the scene of the container storage and distribution site at about 10am. A Staffordshire Fire and Rescue spokesman confirmed one heavy lifting machine had set alight.

The Environment Agency was also made aware due to the large amount of diesel in the area.

Pentilver Cannock general manager Nick Matthews said there were no injuries.

Curtain up on many more years of misery

WALKING through Dudley at the weekend, doing the weekly search for the shops, it struck me. Wandering between Dudley College Evolve, Dudley College Aspire, Dudley College Broadway Campus, and Dudley College Sixth, I realised: what this town really needs is another college campus.

Actually, that's not strictly true. In that it's not true at all. But it does seem to be the thought process of the leader of Dudley Council, who a few weeks ago spoke of "some exciting plans" for the town's disused Hippodrome theatre.

The exciting plans, it turns out, involve asking Dudley College if it would like to knock down the Hippodrome and build a college building on the site, ending "years of misery". Which is interesting, because when the council bought the theatre eight years ago, it said it was part of a comprehensive regeneration scheme to "create a leisure and tourism hub". Nothing was said about "years of misery".

Seriously, though, what would actually be less exciting than another college building in the town? A national paint-drying exhibition? An audience with Karen Brady? A couple of hours listening to Wolves supporters droning on about their Champions League ambitions?

Councillor Patrick Harley says the college has been at the forefront of the town's regeneration, and it has spent a lot of money on new buildings, many of them very nice. But does filling prime development sites with buildings most of us will never set foot in really constitute "regeneration"? Yes it will bring students into town, which is great for Greggs and Costa. But students, by definition, tend to have low disposable incomes. A strange way of reviving a struggling high street.

Now, I'm sorry if I keep banging on about this, and perhaps it is time to take up stamp collecting or something. But it is hard to think how successive councils, of both colours, could have handled this worse.

First, the "years of misery" were brought on entirely by the council using taxpayers' money to buy a building it had no real plans for. Then it misjudged the public mood, assuming it could be quietly demolished without fuss. It then attempted to quell the inevitable backlash with a string of uninspiring plans. And when a private company wanted to invest £8 million in the theatre, it dithered about car parking. Now the council has run out of patience.

Realistically, we can't expect councils to pour millions into renovating old theatres. But if this is the best it can come up with, then I suspect there will be many more years of misery to come.

If fee was agreed for tennis TV work stop complaining

Christopher Eccleston – now does not refer to his time on Doctor Who

Martina Navratilova – not happy that she was paid less than John McEnroe

Boris Johnson – was this just a sudden case of Biggles Syndrome

Serving up moans over pay equality

ARE you beginning to suffer from equality overload? Me, too. Martina Navratilova complains that she was paid "only" £15,000 for her stint as a commentator at Wimbledon while John McEnroe got "at least £150,000." Really? So flippin' what? Is it worth pointing out that, at the peak of their game, both of these tennis stars were paid much, much more than the ball boys? In spats like this involving the super-rich there's only one question that should be asked: Were you paid the sum that you or your agent negotiated and agreed to accept? If the answer is yes, stop wasting our time.

If tennis throws up pay anomalies, God help us if the equality police get to work on Glastonbury. I strongly suspect that performers at music festivals are paid not by gender, age or race but solely on the basis of their market value.

AND while we're at it, has anyone noticed that the winner in Olympic sports gets a gold medal but the runner-up only gets silver and number three gets bronze? How long can this scandal go on?

I WAS rather hoping the Cambridge Analytica data scandal was going to fade away before I had to pretend I understood it.

BUT basically it's about the harvesting, selling and misuse of billions of items of personal information about millions of Facebook users. Yet surely it only qualifies as a genuine scandal if those people are scandalised. Are they?

IF you remember the Cold War and George Orwell's novel Nineteen Eighty-four, you belong to a generation which grew up cherishing privacy and living in fear of Big Brother. But to day millions of people seem not only willing but eager to blab every detail of their own lives on social media. Secrets tortured out of Winston Smith in Room 101 are today freely volunteered. Some folk seem perfectly relaxed about their information being bought and sold, so long as it gets them a fleeting moment of fame or makes buying things on eBay a nano-second quicker. Middle-aged liberal hacks and crusty politicians may queue up to express outrage at this cyber-scandal but how many kids give a damn?

A TIME Lord has become a non-person. There is clearly no love lost between Christopher Eccleston and the BBC whom he accuses of putting him on a blacklist after he left Doctor Who. Starring as Macbeth at Stratford (and doing a brilliant job), the actor's attitude to Auntie Beeb is seen in the production's programme where artists list the film, theatre and TV work of which they are most proud. Eccleston's lengthy CV does not even mention Doctor Who.

A QUICK-build bridge collapsed in Florida, killing six people. Councils all over the States are waiting to find out why. As one official in Wisconsin put it: "We want to . . . see if any of the lessons learned would be applicable here." Bridges have been with us since the first cave-man laid a tree across a stream a million years ago. The problem is not discovering new lessons. It's remembering old ones.

YEARS from now historians will wonder how a

British foreign secretary made the quantum leap from a few traces of nerve agent in Salisbury to personally blaming the Russian president. And then they will examine the footage more closely and notice that Boris Johnson was speaking at the Battle of Britain Bunker museum in Uxbridge, standing right in front of the most iconic warplane of all time. Boris may have been suffering from a sudden case of Biggles Syndrome, an irrational stirring of the blood caused by close exposure to a Supermarine Spitfire.

BIGGLES Syndrome can be serious. At about the same time as Boris was going off-script, I watched a 1944 DC-3 Dakota transport plane fly over in black-and-white D-Day livery. I had a sudden impulse to invade Normandy.

NEVER let it be said that, when it comes to punishing the ungodly, readers lack inventiveness. After a court report on a particularly unpleasant attack on two pensioners, here's one online suggestion of what to do with the defendant: "He should have all of his skin removed with acid and a sanding machine, every bone broken with a sledgehammer, every joint destroyed with a power drill, every appendage amputated with garden shears. Only then should he be put out of his misery, by being fed to a swarm of rats." Put him out of his misery? What bleeding-heart, kid-glove liberal nonsense is this? No wonder we lost the Empire.

FAREWELL, winter, and with it the annual debate about what to call the pain when you put frozen hands in warm water after a snow-ball fight. A friend suggests 'finger cramps' but at Chateau Rhodes we are sticking with 'hot aches'. Suggestions welcome (apart from the obvious one that I ought to get out more).

TALKING POINT

Firms can do more to build their reputation

REGULAR Talking Point readers may recall I previously mentioned a parking fine I received for overstaying my welcome. I suggested common sense would hopefully prevail and that the fine may be waived on appeal. It wasn't. So, accept it, move on, live and learn.

Now another parking matter has led me to think about big firms, how they treat their customers and how word of mouth can enhance – or ruin – a reputation.

My issue this time relates to a car park in Wolverhampton. A number of us travel in together and use a particular car park near the city centre, which is reasonably priced at just £2.40 per day. To obtain a ticket, the last three letters of the car's registration must be inputted.

Fair enough, I suppose, as it prevents a driver leaving the car park from passing on to another just arriving.

We know its aim is to make a profit. However, it is not so easy for customers to get any money back.

One morning, after paying our fee, we realised only the last two letters of the registration had been keyed in. So, fearing this would be noted and action taken, we bought another ticket. This time with the correct three letters.

I rang the company to explain this and was told that if I emailed a brief description with pictures of the tickets the money would be reimbursed. An automated email came back, to say the would be responded to as soon as possible.

A week later, having still not heard anything back, I rang them. "The emails are usually picked up after seven days so contact us again in a week if you've heard nothing," I was politely told.

It was three weeks later before I got in touch again. Guess what? There was no record of my email ever being received.

I was advised to resend the original email, it would go to the top of the pile and be dealt with. The result? Another automated reply, which probably means another seven days before it is even looked at.

And all this for just £2.40. Is it worth it? Well, yes it is. It's my money. How many others, for the sake of a paltry sum would think it's not worth the hassle? How many extra £2.40s is that for the company?

I could refuse to use the car park, or others owned by the firm, and tell others to do the same, reducing its income. There are alternative options after all.

It's in this way that reputations can be built or tarnished. Such actions discourage clients, not attract them – and I believe they should be brought to account.

They make enough money as it is without holding on to my £2.40 as well.

Funding goes towards helping ex-squaddies

A £1,500 grant has been donated to a Staffordshire support group helping veterans from the armed services.

Rugeley-based Help a Squaddie was set up by Kerry Urquhart as a support group for veterans who may be homeless, suffer with mental health or addiction issues, unemployment or are simply elderly.

Thanks to the donation from three local county councillors, Kerry and her team have been able to fund 'drop-in' sessions twice a month, for six months at the Salvation Army in Hednesford.

Veterans can meet for a bite to eat, chat with colleagues and seek 'one stop' advice and signposting to key services. The grant has also funded a number of laptops and a printer for the use of the veterans to write CVs, search for and apply for jobs.

Among those supported by Help a Squaddie is 100-year-old George Pratt, recipient of an Arctic Star and Burma Star, who attends the breakfast club. The group, currently seeking charitable status, organised a party for his 100th at his Rugeley home surrounded by family, friends and fellow veterans.

County councillors Phil Hewitt, Paul Snape and Bryan Jones donated £1,527 through the council's Community Fund. Councillors are allocated £7,500 in grants from the fund to share out among local groups and causes.

Kerry said: "It is wonderful to be able to help our veterans in this way. There is a genuine need out there for many of our veterans who have no one else to turn to and Help a Squaddie is fulfilling that role. We are very grateful to county councillors Bryan, Phil and Paul who have supported us all the way."

Councillor Jones said: "All three of us are passionate about supporting our armed services who make such a sacrifice on all of our behalf. We are all very proud to be able to fund this project."

Gentleman came to our rescue

COULD I thank the gentleman in a grey Berlingo-type van who came to my rescue on Thursday, March 15.

My husband and I entered Sainsbury's petrol forecourt on the Orbital Centre Cannock, only to be hit side-on by a man in a works van.

He obviously didn't look in his mirrors and reversed into us. Our car was un-drivable and I had a short time to get to Cheslyn Hay to pick up my seven-year-old granddaughter from school.

I asked the kind gentleman, who I believe lived at Wimblebury and was on the way to visit his father in Pelsall, if he could take me to Cheslyn Hay. He dropped me right outside the school.

What would I have done without you?

Extra charges for tickets hit wrong note

THERE have been a lot of stories in the Press and on social media about concert goers being ripped off with the price of tickets.

This has been going on for decades, long before the internet was even mentioned on Tomorrow's World. When I first started going to gigs in the 1970s the only price paid was printed on the ticket, then over the years a 10 per cent booking fee was added, but if you bought tickets in person from the box office, that extra cost didn't apply.

Then an administration cost was added to each ticket, together with a handling charge. In a matter of about 10 years a £40 ticket cost almost £50 with all the add-ons.

What annoyed me was these extra costs weren't mentioned when the concerts were advertised. The modern tout now hides on the internet hoping to make a tidy profit from fans who just want a good night out. In my opinion the only way to stop tickets being sold at crazy prices is not to buy them. Then when the venues are only half-full perhaps something might be done about it.

PAUL KMIOLEK
Hednesford

Time simply going down the drain ...

WHAT on Earth is going on with the county highways department?

There seems to be a huge backlog in the clearance of blocked drains.

I recently reported a blocked drain in View Street, Hednesford. On the system it came up that there were previous reports of the same problem, one dating back to June 2017! The note next to it said they are awaiting works to fix the fault. Waiting nine months?

In the meantime, residents have to put up with the inconvenience of flooded roads every time it rains.

This is not an isolated case, it is a problem throughout Staffordshire.

It simply is not good enough.

Chase Line speeding to a better service

THOSE promoting HS2 have spent so much of their time talking about journey times that it is not surprising that the general public has found it hard to understand the most important reason for faster train services. The advantages will soon be absolutely clear to those who use the Chase Line from Rugeley and Cannock to Birmingham.

As part of the electrification programme, Chase Line speeds are being increased from 45 to 75mph trimming the journey time between Rugeley and Birmingham from around 57 to 42 minutes. But the advantages are more than that. With the old line-speed a train could do five round trips in a day. With the new line-speed each train can do around eight trips a day. So, with the same number of trains, with the same number of staff, the service can provide two trains per hour throughout the day, doubling the capacity of the rail line for the cost of only a little more fuel.

Team bowls them over to take title

Rotary Club of Cannock

A TEAM from the Rotary Club of Cannock won the District 1210 tenpin Bowling competition.

The game is one of the events that form part of the Rotary Winter District Sport competitions, played every year. The other sports are snooker, darts and table tennis.

The Rotary District 1210 has 55 clubs that cover most of Staffordshire, Shropshire and parts of West Midlands so winning an event involves many matches before the club reaches the final.

This year's final which was played at the neutral venue of Uttoxeter and was against the Rotary Club of Leek.

The Cannock sports officer and team captain Jacko Page said: "The win was a club effort involving a number of players from the Cannock club, some of whom were unavailable for the final."

He thanked the Rotary of Leek for an excellent game played in a sporting manner.

The Rotary Club of Cannock will soon be taking part in the summer 2018 sports programme of Crown Green Bowling and Croquet.

Rotary is always looking for new members of all ages and backgrounds to join the network of clubs.

History of women is brought to book

CANNOCK Sorooptimists were thrilled when club member Dr Janis Lomas had a book published. 'The History of Women in 100 Objects' was written in collaboration with Professor Maggie Andrews and was featured in a national newspaper on International Women's Day. It was launched at the Redditch Needle Museum on March 10.

The book is available direct from Janis or from bookshops and other outlets.

It contains fascinating articles and pictures on such objects as the washing machine, sanitary towels, Mrs Beeton's Book of Household Management and the scolds bridle! The 100 objects tell the tale of women and womanhood and symbolise the journey

Both women are historians specialising in Women's History. Janis was a lecturer in Women's History at Birmingham University and was a founding member of the Women's History Network.

The two have two more books due for publication, further books in the initial planning stages and a two-day conference in April at the Black Country Living Museum.

New trees boost worldwide challenge

The Rotary Club of Cannock's District Governor Carol Reilly with members of Chase Interact Club

MEMBERS of Chase Grammar School's Interact club and the Rotary Club of Cannock did their bit for a worldwide campaign when they planted saplings in Hednesford.

Rotary International president Ian Riseley has challenged every Rotarian throughout the world to plant a tree between July 1, July 2017 and April 22, 2018.

Magnus Stephenson from Cannock Rotary said: "We are proud to have support from Hednesford Park staff and volunteers including vulnerable adults from Affinity Trust."

Andy Williams, committee member of The Friends of Hednesford Park, said the saplings were 'part of the regeneration of the woodland at the back of the car park'.

The 30 copse trees – silver birch, rowan and wild cherry – were donated by the Woodland Trust.

Digital surge 'improving lives'

A DIGITAL surge in Staffordshire is improving lives and productivity thanks to an emerging new partnership.

Staffordshire County Council and Staffordshire University will be working together to explore a range of opportunities to support the local economy by making the most of the latest technology. The university is renowned for its digital expertise and aims to create thousands of apprenticeships over the next decade.

Schools are also set to benefit from the university's Microsoft Digital Skills programme, which aims to improve learning and knowledge of students and teachers as well as creating digital apprenticeships.

In addition, a hub for digital innovation will be created in Stafford as part of extending the university's presence across Staffordshire – supporting businesses and public service organisations in improving efficiency and driving down costs.

Through the partnership, the university will also look to support to develop innovative technology to support vulnerable families.

Staffordshire County Council leader Philip Atkins said: "This partnership means that we can explore cutting edge technology and to think digital first wherever possible."

Merger of police and fire service approved

FIRE and police services in Staffordshire are set to be merged after government officials gave plans the go-ahead.

The Home Office announced on Monday that Staffordshire Fire and Rescue Service will be governed by the county's Police and Crime Commissioner (PCC). It means that the fire and rescue authority as it stands will fold.

The authority is made up of 21 councillors from Stoke-on-Trent city and Staffordshire county councils.

Staffordshire PCC Matthew Ellis said: "The change to governance and oversight will not affect frontline operations of Staffordshire Fire and Rescue Service. Officers and staff should not be unduly worried - it's entirely business as usual."

"This is an opportunity to further improve the way the police and the fire service work together and to ensure more of the funding available goes to frontline services."

"Staffordshire is a large and diverse county, and it's important the future for both services is financially more secure with a period of stability to get on with the difficult jobs they do. I'm sure everyone would want to thank the various city councillors and county councillors for their time on the fire and rescue authority," Mr Ellis added.

The plans will see more streamlined back office functions and governance structure, bringing savings of more than £5 million a year, which is expected to be ploughed back into frontline services.

Lichfield MP Michael Fabricant welcomed the news, saying he was 'delighted and relieved' the fire service will come under the PCC's authority. He said: "This is very good news for the people of Staffordshire and firefighters."

Tying the knot on finding love in 80s

Newlyweds Elizabeth and Brian Nickless on their big day at Cannock Registry Office

LOVE is just as lovely the second time around for sweethearts Elizabeth and Brian Nickless who have married in their 80s.

The newlyweds, who have eight grandchildren between them, were married for 60 years to other people before taking the plunge again at Cannock Registry Office. They met at a nursing home in Cannock when visiting their partners, who died within months of each other in 2015.

They continued their friendship until Brian, 83, decided to propose. The retired gas fitter said: "It's not just companionship, like most people think. We're madly in love."

He added: "I hadn't planned to propose but it just seemed right. We first met at the MRI Club in Stafford 40 years ago and knew there was something special about her."

Brian's son Simon was best man, 86-year-old Bet's son-in-law Tony Cummings gave away the bride and her daughter Sylvia was matron of honour.

Knife crime is hot topic

Matthew Ellis with parties involved in the debate on knife crime

EDUCATION and prevention were the key action points to emerge from a debate in Staffordshire on knife crime.

Hosted by Police & Crime Commissioner Matthew Ellis, the discussion featured young people from both sides of the Atlantic featuring 17 criminology students from US institutions along with members of the Staffordshire Youth Commission. Also contributing with powerful and emotional accounts were Alison Cope, whose son was stabbed outside a Birmingham nightclub in 2013, former convicted gang member Darryl Laycock, Supt Ricky Fields and other campaigners.

Mr Ellis said: "The issues raised will contribute to a wider piece of work across agencies that I will be commissioning shortly."

A PATIENT was made to wait for almost 18 hours in A&E at a Staffordshire hospital this month.

New data shows the patient was forced to wait in the emergency department for a total of 1,075 minutes before being treated. The average waiting time for a patient was 115 minutes, while the lowest was just a minute.

The figures were released as part of a Freedom of Information request made by hospital campaigner and Stafford councillor Louise Nixon to the University Hospitals of North Midlands (UHNH) NHS Trust, which runs both Stafford's County Hospital and Royal Stoke Hospital. It is unclear where the incident - which happened sometime between March 1 and 14 - happened.

Chief executive of UHNH, Paula Clark said: "This winter has been extremely challenging for the health system in the North Midlands.

Backdrop

"Clearly it's not acceptable for a patient to be waiting to be seen for that length of time, but our staff have worked incredibly hard throughout winter against a backdrop of unprecedented demand to treat the most seriously ill patients as quickly as possible.

"There were a number of factors that contributed to some new arrivals into A&E not being treated quickly, including high numbers of patients with influenza, an increase in the acuity of patients and the amount of medically fit for discharge patients throughout our hospitals."

Ms Clark added: "In order to help manage the situation we implemented a number of emergency measures beyond our original Winter Plan.

"These included opening an additional 189 escalation beds, the cancellation of non-urgent surgery for the whole of January to create additional capacity and cancelled outpatient appointments to release staff to care for inpatients."

When the couple that own this property got fed up with having to wear a hat to protect themselves from summer glare, they quickly dismissed other solid roofs in favour of Livinroof. But it wasn't just the flexible glazing and 'real room' feel that won the couple it was the expert installation that really impressed the couple. Mr & Mrs T from Lichfield explain "With any home improvement project you always hope it will be straightforward but in reality that's rarely the case. But I can say with absolute authority that everything Cardinal Home Improvements promised became a reality."

Top award collected
by courier company

Peter Roper presents the awards to Matt Evans from Family Business Practice at a gala dinner

A CANNOCK courier firm, which has grown from small beginnings as a family-owned petrol station, has been recognised with a top award.

EDS Couriers, of Wimblebury Road, was honoured for its 50-year history under the guidance of three generations of the Evans family, winning the Midlands Family Business of the Year 2018 at the Midlands Business Awards.

Originally Palfrey Service Station, the company was founded by Leonard and Joan Evans in the 1960s. It was taken over by their two sons, Andy and Gary, in 1988, and they have expanded, partnering with APC Overnight and Palletforce to offer a global delivery service from its two depots in Cannock and Stoke.

Andy's son, Matt, now managing director, said: "I'm sure nan and granddad had no idea that, 50 years on, it would have evolved into a multi-million pound courier firm with two depots, a fleet of 75 trucks and 140 staff."

Force must do more to protect vulnerable

STAFFORDSHIRE Police has been ranked good overall in a watchdog report – but told to improve how it protects vulnerable people.

Her Majesty's Inspectorate of Constabulary (HMIC) praised the force for its approach to tackling serious and organised crime. It was described by inspectors as being 'good at keeping people safe and reducing crime'.

But areas of concern included the fact that, daily, 10 per cent of 101 calls are not answered.

Meanwhile, HMIC inspectors found a backlog of 260 visits to registered sex offenders which should have been carried out. The force said this backlog had since been cleared.

Domestic

Staffordshire has the second lowest rate of domestic abuse arrests in England and Wales. It arrests 32.4 suspects for every 100 domestic abuse-related offences. The national average is 45.5. The force has also been told it needs to improve how it keeps tabs on wanted criminals.

Overall crime rose across

By David Cosgrove

Staffordshire by 13 per cent in the year up to June last year – one per cent lower than the national average increase.

The force was rated as good overall and in inspection categories for 'preventing crime and tackling anti-social behaviour', 'investigating crime and reducing re-offending', and 'tackling serious and organised crime'.

Accepting that work still needed to be done, Staffordshire Chief Constable Gareth Morgan said: "The report clearly shows that we are good at keeping people safe and reducing crime and are a quality police force able to serve communities of Staffordshire effectively."

Race night a winner for food bankThe cheque is handed over to food bank manager Adam Tilsley by Robyn Ennis

A RACE night proved a winner as a cheque for £1,000 was handed over to a food bank.

Members of Burntwood & Hammerwich Branch Labour Party made the donation to Cannock & District Foodbank, along with more than 30kg of food. The cheque was presented to Adam Tilsley, the foodbank manager by Robyn Ennis, the youngest member of the Branch Party.

The money came from the proceeds of a race night at The Grangemoor Working Mens Club in Burntwood. In 2017, Cannock & District Foodbank issued 4,111 food parcels to help people in crisis within the local area, of which more than 1,400 were children. They operate a Foodbank in Burntwood at Emmanuel Church, Cannock Road on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Councillor Eric Drinkwater said: "There should be no need for food banks in a modern, caring society."

M6 Toll new boss on wayAndy Cliffe*MIDLAND Expressway, operators of the M6 Toll, have announced the appointment of a new chief executive.

Andy Cliffe joins the road operator next month from his current role as managing director of East Midlands and Bournemouth Airports, part of the Manchester Airports Group of which he is an executive committee member.

Mr Cliffe, who was born in Lichfield and brought up in Burntwood, previously held a number of roles within MAG including group marketing director, group strategy director and managing director of assets, with time spent in his 19 years at MAG across finance, operations, commercial, real estate development, strategy and corporate development functions.

Current acting chief executive

Graham Parcell, said: "Andy is a great addition to the team. He has been at the forefront of developing East Midlands Airport's business, which in turn has helped the local business community there."

"He joins the M6 Toll at an exciting time with the numbers of customers growing."

Mr Parcell will revert to his non-executive director position on the group's boards.

Arboretum's fun programme

THE National Memorial Arboretum has a packed programme of free activities for Easter Holiday visitors.

In addition to taking in the hundreds of memorials, they can partake in a range of activities and exhibitions. For a second year, families can enjoy a Little Hatchling animal encounter, with the chance to meet and hold a variety of small creatures.

Pocket Pals is a free make and take craft activity, enabling children to create their own craft animals to take home. These ac-

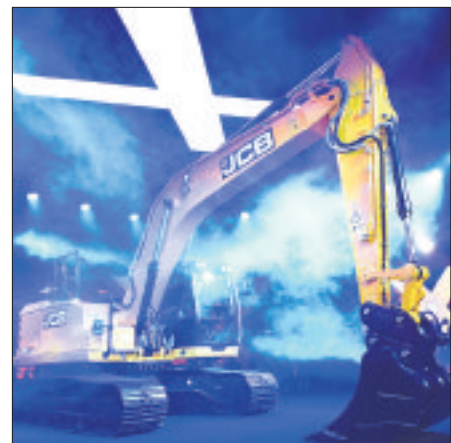

MP's pledge on mining towns' regeneration

CANNOCK Chase MP Amanda Milling has given her backing to the redevelopment of former mining towns and villages.

The Conservative MP has pledged her commitment to the regeneration of coalfield communities.

She took the time to sign a dedicated pledge book presented by the Coalfields Regeneration Trust at an event in Westminster. It reads: "I pledge my support to the work of the Coalfields Regeneration Trust in delivering against its objectives to make a lasting and positive impact on the employment, skills and health of residents in former mining towns and villages."

Wraps off JCB's X factor machine

The new X Series is unveiled at JCB's Rocceter headquarters

JCB has taken the wraps off a new generation of tracked excavator following one of the biggest investment programmes in its history.

The Staffordshire company has ploughed £110 million into developing its 'X Series' which will compete in a global tracked excavator market where almost 190,000 machines are sold every year.

The new product is starting to roll off production lines at JCB Heavy Products in Uttoxeter and is now being launched to customers around the world.

Some of the main features of the new X Series include a cab which is 15 per cent larger, making it one of the biggest on the market. The cabs are made at JCB Cab Systems in Rugeley.

JCB Group chief executive Graeme Macdonald said: "This is a massive investment and underlines just how serious JCB is in building its presence in the tracked excavator sector."

Go ape for Easter eggs

Saddle up for ride to aid wildlife trust

CHILDREN can hit the heights for an Easter egg hunt on Cannock Chase.

Aerial adventure course Go Ape has hidden chocolate treats among its obstacles and is encouraging youngsters, aged 10 and above, to find them in return for the chance to win a prize.

To make a booking, email www.goape.co.uk or call 0845 643 9236

CYCLISTS can get on their bikes for the Staffordshire Wildlife Trust's Sportive.

Riders will saddle up for the event, which departs from the trust's Wolseley Bridge headquarters on September 2. It will raise money for the trust's conservation work across the county. The courses have been designed by professionals at Ride Ventures with all abilities catered for and a choice of three distances – a 'Mammoth' 90-mile route, costing £25 to enter, a 'Midi' 60-mile route, at £20 and a 'Mini' 20-mile route, which has a £15 fee.

A £1 application fee is added for all routes. To enter and for more information go to www.staffs-wildlife.org.uk/RideTheRoaches activities are available from March 30 to April 2.

Young adventurers can scour the Arboretum grounds for clues to help them unscramble a secret message on an Easter trail from March 30 to April 15.

From April 3 to 15 a range of free discovery activities will be available for younger visitors to enjoy, in recognition of the centenary of the formation of the Royal Air Force. A variety of children's make and take craft activities will be on offer.

Ms Milling said: "Cannock Chase has a very proud mining heritage but one of the key challenges is ensuring we redevelop the area so that we attract businesses which create new job opportunities for our residents."

"I have repeatedly said we also need to ensure that we attract businesses which create skilled jobs too. We need to continue to ensure Cannock Chase evolves to the changing industrial and economic landscape and is thriving community."

Perfect

"I was therefore very happy to pledge my support for the work the Coalfields Regeneration Trust is doing to boost the employment, skills and health of former mining communities, such as Cannock Chase."

Head of Operations (England) for the Coalfields Regeneration Trust, Andy Lock, said: "Having this platform gives us the perfect opportunity to raise the ongoing challenges still prevalent in the coalfield communities. It also allows us to share our proposals on how we can tackle these issues to make an impact both socially and economically moving forward."

Slimline tonic as weight loss leads to healthier outlook

Commercial feature

Slimming World members have seen amazing results since signing up for their local class.

Wilma joined a Slimming World group for health reasons. Problematic knees meant walking was difficult. She planned to lose one stone prior to her holiday in July last year but over-achieved with a one and a half stone loss in under two months.

To date she has lost four stone five and a half pounds in just over nine months, and dropped from a dress size 18-20 to 10-12, a far healthier weight for her 5' 6" frame to carry.

Wilma has found the support of her local Slimming World group invaluable and at 60 years old as she approaches retirement she is looking forward to feeling healthier than ever before.

Michelle was awarded 'Greatest Loser 2018' by her local Slimming World group. In just 18 months she has lost six and a half stone, feels so much healthier and now enjoys life to the full.

Diane is a senior member who, following the loss of her husband, and also suffering from mobility problems, found herself virtually housebound.

Realising that her problems would be helped by weight loss, Diane decided to join a local Slimming World group. She says its the best thing she ever did.

Less than a year on she has lost 5st 7lb and regained her mobility and confidence. Now regularly walking around her neighbourhood, Diane enjoys friendships with many other members at her group.

Michelle now lives life to the full

Leading way for Pet Care

Penparc Pet Centre is a family established business with in excess of 20 years of the pet shop industry under their belts. Founded in 1990, the business is still owned and managed by the same family.

Since starting, the company has grown from strength to strength and has expanded to four sites. Cannock @ Cedars Business Park, Stafford @ Madford Retail Park. Stoke @ Victoria Road Fenton. Great Bridge @ West Bromwich (also home to Posh Pooches Dog Grooming).

All our sites offer free parking just outside the door and our friendly staff are more than happy to assist with carrying your shopping to the car.

Each store is over 5000sqft enabling us to offer a huge range of supplies for your much loved pets. This also enables us to offer plenty of choice at very competitive prices. We stock well known brands as well as many alternative choices to suit every budget. We have a strong belief in natural feeding and stock a wide range of natural and frozen foods for dogs.

Advice and care

Although growth has clearly grown on the internet we have decided not to expand into this already saturated arena and have decided to concentrate on offering a more personal service to our customers. Purchasing a new pet is a huge commitment and we would like to think we can offer better advice and care giving face to face.

We look forward to welcoming you into our stores and please don't forget all pets are welcome.

"Staff are so knowledgeable. We got all the answers to our questions and nothing was a problem. They gave us the personal touch." Mr & Mrs Siverns proud owners of Rhoda & Merlin

Lawn order prevailed under National Service

BRYN Turner was frankly alarmed by the prospect of National Service after hearing stories of tasks designed to test new recruits to the limit.

"We'd heard of men having to cut grass borders with scissors and silly things like that, designed to break us – it filled us with trepidation," recalls Bryn, aged 81, of Burntwood.

"Looking back now, I would recommend two years' National Service to anyone."

The former Royal Signaller spent most of his service in the Far East and can recall in remarkable detail those far-off, action-packed days.

Training

Now, an account of his initial four-weeks basic training is on display at the Imperial War Museum in London. Bryn wrote the 5,000-word piece in response to an appeal in The Chronicle's sister paper The Express & Star, published last year for people's National Service memories.

Bryn, of Oak Lane, Boney Hay, recalls arriving at the Catterick camp in North Yorkshire on a cold, blustery afternoon in April 1956 after leaving his new job with the Coal Board to carry out the compulsory two-year Army placement for just 30 shillings a week.

For 19-year-old Bryn and his fellow recruits, including several long-haired Teddy Boy types, it was a shock to the system, with early starts, a strictly regimented schedule, high standards and no slacking.

During those first four weeks, the recruits had to be up at 6.30am for an energetic gym session before a quick breakfast and a morning of square

Bryn Turner recalls his National Service

Bryn was posted to Singapore

Bryn, of Burntwood, was 19 when he was called up for National Service bashing, including kit inspection. This was followed by weapons training and classroom work.

Anyone failing to come up to standard could find themselves in 'jankers' – confined to barracks with hard labour, or on 'a fizzer', which meant carrying out tasks such as peeling spuds, cleaning pots, painting the parade ground – or manicuring the lawn using only a pair of scissors. The conscripts' meagre wages quickly disappeared on stamps and stationery, toiletries, boot polish, replacing any broken crockery 'and a few pints', said Bryn.

After basic training, Bryn was taught Morse code, achieving 25 words a minute, 'which was faster than I could write', he says, before being posted to Singapore.

Solicitor Kevin signs off after 45 years

The Chronicle Thursday, March 29, 2018

Commercial feature

Local solicitor and former partner at Gardner, Iliff & Dowding, solicitors in Cannock, Kevin Sherriff has retired after a total of 45 years with the firm.

The firm continues in the hands of Nic Dowding, who has been a partner since 1990, and Joanne Hartshorne, who joined the firm in 2006, becoming a partner in 2016.

Kevin started with the firm in 1973 as a trainee legal executive and worked his way up, first qualifying as a legal executive and then a solicitor before becoming a partner with the firm in 1984. He then became the firm's senior partner in 2005, before retiring from the partnership at the end of 2016 and becoming a consultant with the firm.

Kevin Sherriff said: "It is hard to believe that I joined Gardner, Iliff & Dowding some 45 years ago. I remember turning up for an interview, fresh faced, smartly dressed and petrified.

I was soon put at ease by John Winter who in later years became my partner and his partner at the time, Jimmy Dowding, who was the father of my most recent partner, Nic Dowding.

I have been fortunate to work with a great bunch of talented people and have enjoyed working with some really good clients, many of whom over the years have become friends. It would be quite easy to carry on but I wish to spend more quality time with my wife, Pauline, four children, Adam, Christopher, Richard and David, and currently eight grandchildren but soon to be nine in June.

We will be able to take a few more holidays, and I hope to spend more time on my hobbies including golf, walking and, of course, socialising with friends and family.

I wish the current partners, Nic Dowding and Joanne Hartshorne, and all staff well for the future and I am confident that the firm has been left both in good hands and good heart."

Nic Dowding, now the firm's senior partner, said: "It is extremely rare these days for someone to have been with a firm for such a length of time, and it is remarkable to think that Kevin has only ever been with Gardner, Iliff & Dowding having started here from school and eventually becoming a partner with the firm.

Kevin was actually taken on when my father, Jim Dowding, was the firm's senior partner and I have therefore known Kevin for all of the time he has been at the firm.

The one thing that has stood out more than anything during that time is his dedication to his work and in particular to do his very best for the clients."

Clive Jessup, managing director of Jessup Build Develop, who has been a client of the firm for many years, said: "Kevin acted for Jessup in the first property matter 35 years ago and we have continued building that relationship ever since. I have learned an awful lot from Kevin regarding the intricacies involved in legal matters concerning property and land which has been a benefit to me and the company.

Kevin has an enviable reputation within property circles and is highly respected. I am sure he will embrace his retirement with as much energy and effort as he put into his work and enjoy himself, although we shall miss him."

Andrew & Tracy Stafford said: "We have known Kevin over 30 years, starting as a client and gradually over the years becoming great friends. After 45 years of providing a trusting and loyal service with Gardner, Iliff and Dowding to all his clients, it is now time for Kevin to enjoy a long, happy and fulfilled retirement which is well deserved for a true gentleman."

Over the years, Kevin has built and nurtured excellent relationships with local estate agents. Tim Boot, of Boot and Son, said: "Everyone at Boot and Son would like to wish Kevin a long and happy retirement and to thank him for all his generous help and advice over the years. We shall all greatly miss his words of wisdom, dry sense of humour and often invaluable advice."

Kevin has also enjoyed a good working relationship with members of staff, many of whom have been with the firm for many years.

Deb Carder, Kevin's secretary, said: "I have been with the firm for 33 years, joining in 1985. It has been a great pleasure working for Kevin.

Time for relaxation – Kevin Sherriff and Barney

I cannot express how much I am going to miss him and the fantastic working relationship we have had.

Not only has he been my 'boss' but a friend and someone you can turn to with respect and trust whenever needed.

He would regularly bring 'the boys' into the office and whilst they were occupied he would carry on dictating into the machine, we so often wanted to take the batteries and tapes out of to slow him down. This never happened as Kevin's dedication and conscientiousness would never allow.

I wish him a well deserved retirement to fulfil his hobbies and most important to spend family quality time with Pauline, his boys and grandchildren."

Tackling stigma over talking about death

A NEW campaign is encouraging people in Staffordshire to speak openly and honestly about death and dying – in an effort to break the stigma and ensure their final wishes are known.

The campaign, 'Dying Matters, Staffordshire', has been launched by Staffordshire Health and Well-being Board.

It aims to help people drop the euphemisms about death, and instead talk openly about what they want to happen when they die.

It comes after a recent survey revealed nearly three-quarters had not discussed what their wishes would be if they did not have long to live.

For 61 per cent this was because they either felt too young, or because death felt a long way off. Nearly 80 per cent had no written plans for their end of life care, financial wishes or funeral plans, while only a third had told their loved ones where they wanted to die.

County councillor Alan White, deputy leader and cabinet member for health, care and wellbeing said: "Most people don't like talking about death, and this makes it hard to plan the end of life that we really want. This campaign is all about breaking the stigma that surrounds death, so we can have honest, healthy discussions.

Moments

"That way, we are more likely to get the care that we want, have the best possible quality of life, and might be able to spend our last moments where and how we'd like."

The website www.dyingmattersstaffs.org has advice and resources for people who want to broach the subject with their family, as well as information on aspects such as Power of Attorney, and stating preferences for future medical treatment.

Egg-citing Easter activities

Beacon Park's Easter bunny promotes the activities

YOUNGSTERS have a host of activities to keep them entertained during the half-term break in Lichfield.

Families can follow an Easter trail round Beacon Park to solve clues and claim a small prize. The trails cost £2 each, or £1.50 with a leisure activity passport, and are available from Beacon Park's Ranger Station from 9am to 4pm.

Tomorrow (Good Friday), children can take part in a Stride and Seek challenge, following a map to find the egg-shaped markers. Maps cost £1 each, available at Beacon Park's play area between 11am and 2pm.

Two pond dip days, on April 10 and 11, completes the holiday programme. The series of one-hour sessions are on Tuesday 10 and Wednesday 11 April at 10am, 11am, 1pm and 2pm. Cost is £2.50, or £2 with a leisure activity passport. Book on 01543 308867.

Recruitment team's hat-trick of awards

Andrea Constable collects her award

A RECRUITMENT business in Cannock picked up three award at a ceremony held in London's Globe Theatre.

Berry Recruitment's onsite team at the town's Gestamp factory was presented with an 'achievement of budget' prize, marking its success in 2017.

The event was organised by Berry Recruitment Group for its staff, which numbers more than 200 across 36 branches nationwide.

The Cannock team's Naomi Higgins also picked up an award for apprentice of the year for her success since joining the business and Andrea Constable, who works on site in Cannock as well as at another Gestamp site in the West Midlands, was on site consultant for 2017.

The awards night was held in a replica of the Elizabethan playhouse on the banks of the Thames and the Cannock branch received their awards from director Spencer Berry.

Group managing director Chris Chown said: "The group as a whole enjoyed another successful year."

New deal secured to upgrade IT systems

A RUGELEY firm has landed an important contract to upgrade a vehicle company's IT systems.

DBLogic, a software development specialist, secured the deal with commercial vehicle contract hire and fleet management company Prohire.

Established in 1997, Staffordshire-based Prohire provides specialist contract hire, repair and maintenance, rental, accident management and fleet management solutions throughout the UK. It has invested in a custom software solution that delivers enhanced quoting capabilities.

Growth

DBL has been working with Prohire since 2015, ensuring its IT infrastructure has the scale and pace to meet the current and predicted growth of the business.

This latest contract has involved DBL in a software upgrade to enhance quotation and order processing, including the ability to link to credit checking facilities. It also feeds into Prohire's main IT infrastructure system for seamless accounting. Prohire's IT manager Jim McAlinden said: "Our ongoing investment in IT has made our business more efficient, with a corresponding positive impact on customer relations, and since the system is easy to use we spend less time training new recruits."

"DBL's developers get to grips with what we want really quickly and take into consideration customers' needs as well as our own, so we are confident all software upgrades have been thoroughly thought out."

Dave Barrett, managing director at DBL, said: "This latest upgrade streamlines the quotation and order processes."

Men's group line up talks

THE Men of Burntwood's next monthly meeting is on Wednesday, April 11.

It will take place at 7.45pm at St Matthews Sports and Social Club.

Jim Wall will discuss 'The past beneath my feet'.

This will be followed on May 9 by the return of 'The Waterloo Man' Tim Budgin who will speak about the aftermath of the Battle of Waterloo.

For further information contact Vince by calling 01543 682448.

A BUILDING firm has given a helping hand to a project to provide a special gym adapted for children with disabilities.

The children of Queen's Croft Community Special School in Lichfield came up with the idea for the outdoor gym. It will benefit 11-to-19-year-olds from the Cannock, Burntwood, Lichfield, Tamworth and surrounding areas.

By John Corser

Chasetown-based house builders Cameron Homes has stepped in to donate a £1,000 cheque, as well as a £100 voucher as a raffle prize.

"We are very grateful to Cameron for their generous donation," said Ashley Hall of the Birmingham Road school, which caters for 187 children and young adults with a range of needs, including severe learning difficulties, rare medical conditions or behavioural issues.

Mrs Hall added: "All the children need physiotherapy and yet it is not easily available to them. The new equipment has been carefully chosen to ensure that every user, whatever their ability, can access it all as at the moment there is no mainstream club or gym they can attend. So it will help them to grow confidence and self-worth as they want to be fit and healthy.

"Our pupils came up with the idea for this project as they are aware of the benefits of regular exercise and they are now so very excited that their dream is becoming a reality - there is not another facility like this in the West Midlands or Staffordshire."

Mrs Hall said the success of the project would be monitored and it would be open to other members of the community with disabilities at weekends and evenings.

Danielle Goffe-Wood of Cameron Homes said: "We look forward to visiting the new facility when it is completed later this year and seeing for ourselves the difference it makes."

Research offers tips on managing tumours

Cheers to Pub of Year title

Linford Arms staff with their Pub of the Year certificate

BEER lovers are toasting The Linford Arms as its Camra branch Pub of the Year for Cannock Chase.

The JD Wetherspoon pub, in High Green, Cannock, came out on top for the first time ahead of micro-pubs the Rusty Barrell in Rugeley and the Newhall Arms, also in High Green, Cannock.

The annual award is determined by Camra members with scoring based on ambience, decor, friendly welcome, and quality of real ales.

Branch chairman Mac Pearson presented the awards. Linford Arms manager Andrew Johnson said after many second and third places he was thrilled to take top spot.

An ale trail, organised by Camra, starts on April 15. Start at one of the top three pubs and pick up a leaflet for details.

RESEARCH by University Hospitals of North Midlands NHS Trust will help non-specialists to manage unsuspecting tumours.

The findings of the UHNM research was published in the British Medical Journal.

Incidental adrenal tumours are unsuspected tumours in one or both adrenal glands – which produce a variety of hormones and sit just above the kidney – and are usually found by chance during an imaging test for another condition.

These masses are being detected more frequently in an ageing population through increased use of higher resolution CT and MRI scans. As the findings are unexpected, detection can be very distressing for patients, particularly while awaiting further tests or appointments.

Experiences

UHNH researchers, linked to both Keele and Staffordshire Universities, worked with colleagues at the University Hospital of South Manchester to look at previous studies, collate recommendations from international guidelines and include a focus group discussion with patients to highlight their experiences. This allowed them to advise non-specialists on how to best manage the finding of an incidental adrenal tumour and how to then interact with the patient.

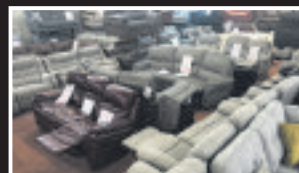

Funded by the Health Foundation, the team have been developing a new electronic management system – eAIMS – to streamline the process so delay for patients is minimised, reducing anxiety and improving efficiency in use of healthcare resources.

Professor Fahmy Hanna, Professor of Diabetes and Metabolism at UHNH and Staffordshire University, and lead author, said: "Writing this paper helped us to highlight the challenges faced by all clinicians when dealing with adrenal lesions discovered accidentally."

JLF MOVING SOLUTIONS LTD

JLF Moving Solutions are a friendly family run removals company based in the heart of Cannock. We provide a complete professional removals service for both the home and business sector. We are strategically located within the Midlands, providing removal services throughout the UK. We have over 30 years' experience in the industry and cover every aspect of a stress free move. We relocated last year to larger premises, still within the Hawks Green Business Park, but with the business growth over the recent years we had outgrown our premises requiring extra space for storage and vehicles. We are also a specialist in a number of niche sectors, including the fire and flood industry and the installation of show homes, as well as carrying out relocations, office and commercial moves and providing secure storage facilities. Over the years the company has carried out work for government projects, banks, public houses and large industrial organisations. We offer a first class, efficient and dependable service, and many of our clients are repeat customers that have regularly relied on us over the years. Run by Directors, Steve Lomas and John Lomas, JLF only employs full time crew members. All employees wear standard logoed uniform, allowing for easy identification on site. Our staff are all CSCS carded and DBS checked. We have an existing fleet of vehicles varying in size, including large vehicles for the larger sized moves, furniture side loading vehicles for ease in loading the storage crates as well as our smaller fleet of vehicles, which are ideal for getting in and out of tight accesses. We also provide a full or part home packing service, and we pride ourselves in providing a professional hassle free removal service. We are a member of BAR (British Association of Removers) and FORS (Fleet Operation Recognition Scheme).

We are a local honest family business who have been dealing in the scrap metal market for many years. We buy all ferrous and non ferrous metals with one of the best prices paid for any of your unwanted scrap metals! We also buy any gold and silver jewellery and watches.

Preparing for life changing events

If you can be as organised with your personal and financial affairs as you can when life-changing events occur, then you will have peace of mind that if the worst happens, you are as prepared as you can be.

1. Marriage

If you have married since making your will, then your marriage will have revoked your will completely and you will need to re-make it. The rule on this point is that simple. If you intend to marry and want to keep the terms of your will the same, then the will can be worded to confirm this. I also encourage both spouses to make will at the same time. Ideally your wishes would mirror each other as we do not know who will die first.

2. Divorce

Have you divorced since you made your will? If so, then the terms of your will are read as though your former spouse has died before you. So, their appointment as executor will not take place – do you have substitutional executors in their place? Any provision you have made for your former spouse will not apply and so you will need to be sure their provision passes to another beneficiary.

3. Children

Your will may already have provision for children, although it is likely they will not be individually named. You may want to consider updating your will to include more bespoke provision to them is to fit their personal circumstances, especially if any of your children have any special needs. You may also want to appoint guardians for your children to care for them in case you die before they are 18 years old.

4. Grandchildren

Have you been blessed with grandchildren since you made your will? Again, your will may already have provision for them, but they may not be named. You may want to include specific cash gifts or family heirlooms to them. You may want to increase the age they receive their provision, otherwise they will be entitled to the capital when the reach 18 years old.

5. Bereavement

If your spouse or partner has passed away since you made your will, you may want to change the beneficiaries included in your will. It may change the value of your estate, and gifts may need to be adjusted accordingly. Some parts of your will may not apply anymore and you may want to simplify it. If any other beneficiaries have died, you may want to review whether your will included a substitution clause or re-direct that particular gift.

Sometimes having an out of date will is no better than having no will at all, especially if it does not reflect your current circumstances.

At Ansons, we recommend that you review the contents of your will as soon as you have a change in your personal circumstances, or at least every 4 -5 years.

The Heathers Nursing Home - A home at the heart of the community

The Heathers Nursing Home in Cannock, is making it its purpose to be at the heart of the community, and is extending a welcome break to the elderly and their carers with a £100 contribution towards a short stay, available until the end of April*.

Respite care can be beneficial for many reasons, including:

- An opportunity for individuals to recharge their batteries
- A time to undertake a trial visit to a care home you may be considering

Respite care includes:

- A full assessment to tailor care needs
- All food and refreshments
- All housekeeping and laundry
- Access to a full programme of engaging activities and events in the home

The Heathers is a modern, purpose-built care home, located just under 20 miles north west of Birmingham, in the bustling ex-mining town of Cannock, in Staffordshire. The home provides specialist dementia nursing care, and 24-hour nursing care, across two floors for up to 52 older people.

The home benefits from a number of light and spacious communal areas, where residents can meet with friends or family. There is also a secure, sensory garden, popular in the summer months, and offering residents a relaxing space, whilst at the same time containing a number of stimulating features.

Located opposite the wide green space of Gorsemoor Road Park, the Heathers has strong links with the local community, including local schools and Churches. Residents have access to a diverse programme of events and activities led by an Activity Coordinator, including animal therapy sessions, external trips, interactive musical sessions, and celebrations of cultural holidays.

The home plans to take part in National Care Home Open Day 2018 on Saturday 21st April, an initiative designed to connect people in the community with their local care home. The theme this year is 'Linking Communities', and residents and staff plan to open the doors to the public, offering them a chance to see a day in the life of a care home, and enjoy refreshments.

Campaigning for patients

We campaign for more patients to be able to be cared for and die in their place of choice. Research shows around 63 per cent of people would like to die at home if they had a terminal illness, with a sizeable minority opting for hospice care.

Our funding

All our services are always free to patients and their families, thanks to the generous support of the public. We fund our nursing services and hospices in 50/50 partnership with the NHS.

All the advertisers on these two pages are proud to support Marie Curie Cancer Care

What do Marie Curie nurses do in your area?

We provide nursing care in partnership with the NHS. Our nursing services cover 94% of the UK's population, but the exact service we provide in each area varies according to what support the local NHS trust has decided it needs from us.

You can find out more about the care and support we offer in your area, and how to get a Marie Curie Nurse, by talking to your district nurse or GP.

Witch way next for adventures in Oz?

Wicked, a spectacular West End and Broadway musical that tells the incredible untold story of the Witches of Oz returns to Birmingham Hippodrome on Wednesday.

Running until April 29, it features Amy Ross as Elphaba, Helen Woolf as Glinda, Aaron Sidwell (best known as 'Steven Beale' in EastEnders) as Fiyero, Steven Pinder (best known as 'Max Farnham' in Brookside) as The Wizard & Doctor Dillamond, Kim Ismay as Madame Morrible, Emily Shaw as Nessarose and Iddon Jones as Boq. Nikki Bentley is Standby for Elphaba.

Amy is thrilled to take the lead and says playing Elphaba is a dream come true.

"Well, we found out five or six months before starting rehearsals that we had the roles, so that was really a lovely amount of time to start singing the songs. Also just to build up a stamina, because once you're up and running you're doing eight shows a week. If you've already sung them into your voice and into the muscle, it makes it a lot easier once you're up and running."

It's the most challenging role that she's ever played because it stretches her both as a singer and an actress.

"As an acting role, Elphaba's journey that she goes through from start to finish is huge. You start the show hopeful, young, happy about this new university and things might be different here. And obviously, she goes through lots of hard times from start to finish and by the end is hardened by a lot of it. She's much darker by Act Two, so it does stretch you. But that's why I love it – because it is such a great challenge."

The show also brings with it enormous pressure because of the sheer number of people who go to see the show.

"Yes, I think you want to honour the wonderful, fantastically talented women who have played the role before. You want to live up to that and do it justice. So, that does add pressure but again it's something to embrace and it's a great challenge. It should never be easy."

"When I was training at college in musical theatre, Wicked had just come out on Broadway and it was this new show that everyone was listening to. We were all listening to the CD so before seeing it, I was already completely in love with it."

EXCITING

"The score is just epic and so exciting. It was wonderful to go and see it when it came to the West End and go 'Ah, that's why she does that in that song and how that happens. I don't think there are many musical theatre actresses who wouldn't want to play Elphaba'."

People connect strongly with the show and Ross puts plenty of effort into each performance. She spends 30 minutes getting on her green make-up and enjoys being on the road.

"I've got a husband and a cat that I will miss, but what's nice is that we kind of bed down in each place for a month, sometimes six weeks, so that makes it less tiring. I've done tours before where you change every week."

The show is already the 15th longest running show in West End theatre history and is now in its 12th year at London's Apollo Victoria Theatre, where it continues an open-ended run. Around the world, Wicked has been seen by almost 55 million people in 16 countries and won over 100 major awards, including ten theatregoer-voted WhatsOnStage Awards (winning 'Best West End Show' on three occasions) and two Olivier Audience Awards.

Based on the acclaimed, best-selling novel by Gregory Maguire that ingeniously re-imagines the stories and characters created by L. Frank Baum in 'The Wonderful Wizard of Oz', Wicked tells the incredible untold story of an unlikely but profound friendship between two sorcery students.

Their extraordinary adventures in Oz will ultimately see them fulfil their destinies as Glinda The Good and the Wicked Witch of the West.

Acclaimed as 'a thrilling theatrical experience with brains, heart and courage', Wicked transports audiences to a stunningly re-imagined world of Oz, providing wonders beyond the imagination.

Wicked recounts the bond between two young women who first meet as sorcery students at Shiz University: the blonde and very popular Glinda and a misunderstood green girl named Elphaba.

Following an encounter with The Wizard, their friendship reaches a crossroads and their lives take very different paths. Glinda's unflinching desire for popularity sees her seduced by power while Elphaba's determination to remain true to herself, and to those around her, will have unexpected and shocking consequences for her future.

Their extraordinary adventures in Oz will ultimately see them fulfil their destinies as Glinda The Good and the Wicked Witch of the West.

The show has music and lyrics by multi Grammy and Academy Award-winner Stephen Schwartz (Godspell, Disney's Pocahontas, The Hunchback of Notre Dame and Enchanted and, for DreamWorks, The Prince of Egypt) and is based on the novel 'Wicked: The Life and Times of the Wicked Witch of the West' by Gregory Maguire and adapted for the stage by Winnie Holzman (My So-Called Life). The Vaccines

Vaccines bounce back after band came to blows

The Vaccines are back with their fourth album, Combat Sports, and a gig in Birmingham as part of their spring UK tour.

The five-piece from London promise full-throttle rock and roll on Combat Sports, released tomorrow (Friday). Heralded by new single I Can't Quit, Combat Sports is described by the band as a return to their guitar band roots after a flirtation with pop.

By the time the band had ended their campaign for third album English Graffiti they were in a mess due to lifestyle and health issues and, crucially, being in a band had stopped being fun.

Despite English Graffiti getting glowing reviews and reaching no2 in the UK chart, the band were at their lowest ebb, maybe pondering the question posed by the title of their debut in 2011, What Did You Expect from the Vaccines?

"We lost sight of who we were and why we were there," says singer and guitarist Justin Young.

The 30-year-old originally from Hampshire explains that the band has survived upheaval, including the departure of drummer Pete Robertson.

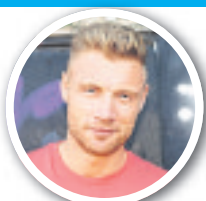

"Being in a band is about compromise and collaboration. It's coming to terms with what we are as a collective and falling back in love with that and making the best record we can for us as a band, rather than as individuals."

The core trio, also featuring lead guitarist Freddie Cowan and bassist Arni Arnason, are now joined by drummer Yoann Intonti and keyboardist Tim Lanham.

The album's title was thought of after Young and Cowan came to blows on the last day of recording. "We're like brothers and brothers fight," says Young. "I don't see the title as a negative. On the contrary, to me it embodies survival, strength, commitment, glory, winning."

The Vaccines are in concert at the O2 Academy in Birmingham next Saturday, April 7.

Freddie is bowled over by a musical

When Freddie Flintoff retired from cricket, few people imagined that he would be performing in a musical.

It seems even he's slightly surprised to have landed a role in Kay Mellor's musical Fat Friends. He got the part after guest starring in an episode of the writer's recent TV drama series Love, Lies and Records, but admitted that he was initially a bit daunted at the prospect of belting out a tune on stage. But the reviews have been very positive.

Freddie, pictured, will be taking to the stage alongside Atomic Kitten singer Natasha Hamilton, West End star Jodie Prenger, The X Factor winner Sam Bailey and Coronation Street's Kevin Kennedy.

The show has been written and directed by Kay Mellor, who after writing for Coronation Street and Brookside went on to create such hit dramas as Band of Gold, Playing the Field, A Passionate Woman, The Syndicate, In The Club and, of course, Fat Friends.

The music is by Nick Lloyd Webber, son of Sir Andrew, who has created musical scores for film, TV and the stage, including the music for Love Lies and Records.

The tour arrives in Birmingham next week, at the New Alexandra Theatre from Tuesday to Saturday.

Mars rocks up for arena show

Thirty Seconds To Mars are at the city centre Arena Birmingham tonight (Thursday). The Los Angeles band fronted by rocker and movie star Jared Leto, pictured, have sold more than 15 million albums worldwide and release fifth studio album, America, in April.

Sam Smith is at the Genting Arena on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Embrace are back with seventh album, Love Is A Basic Need, 20 years on from their debut, and a gig at the O2 Institute in Digbeth next Thursday.

Sweet soul music and sounds like Sabbath

How Sweet It Is for soul fans with a Motown tribute show of that title at Wolverhampton's Grand Theatre on Saturday and then a triple bill at Birmingham's New Alexandra Theatre on Sunday featuring those native New Yorkers Odyssey, Rose Royce's Gwen Dickey and Brum's own Jaki Graham. Meanwhile, the songs of John Fogerty will be heard at Bilston's Robin 2 tonight when tribute band Creedence Clearwater Review hit the stage. Tomorrow (Friday) Legend, the Bob Marley Experience, bring classic reggae to the Mount Pleasant venue. Also at The Robin, Kick Up The 80s play Saturday and the sounds of 'Madchester' will be aired by Stone Roses tribute Adored and Oasis tribute Definitely Maybe on Sunday. Forever Sabbath pay homage to Ozzy and co at the Robin on Wednesday.

A group of famous faces live the dream in Nevada

Have you heard the one about the British showbiz legends trying to make it in Las Vegas?

This new five-part series follows famous faces from comedy, music and variety from the 1960s, 70s and 80s as they head to the Entertainment Capital of the World with a chance to fulfil the dream they thought had long gone.

The eight stars are double act Cannon & Ball, entertainer Bernie Clifton, comedian Mick Miller, pianist and entertainer Bobby Crush, singer Kenny Lynch, 60s pop idol Jess Conrad, actress and singer Anita Harris and Hi-de-Hi! actress Su Pollard.

Cameras follow the group from their departure from the UK to the moment they step onto the stage in Sin City. They'll live in a house together, explore and enjoy the Vegas Strip and rehearse and reminisce together.

Viewers will also be given an insight into the legends' vast and varied careers as they look back and talk about their incredible lives.

The culmination will be an hour-long special of their variety performance at a world-famous theatre in the Nevada desert. Despite decades of experience in the industry, Vegas is an eye-opener.

"I suppose the equivalent in England is Blackpool - that is the Vegas of England, but there's nothing like Vegas," Jess explains.

"We played in a beautiful theatre called the Orleans theatre. And to get there you had to go through a mile of slot machines and Kenny Lynch and I were sitting at one of the machines. Then a lady of a certain age came over and said, 'You're in my seat'.

"I said, 'I'm in your seat?' She said 'Yes, I've been sitting on that seat for 50 years'.

"And then I realised, of course, that she probably comes every day and the place was full of women of about 50 gambling on these slot machines."

Another aspect that the celebs found bizarre was being part of a reality show.

"It's a new art form, I suppose," Jess says.

"We're wired up all day, from eight in the morning to ten at night and they say, 'Be careful what you say', but if you don't say anything you don't get any viewing time.

"We were a great group and nobody fell out. It was a real happy family."

The man tasked with taking the veteran stars under his wing is legendary producer Frank Marino.

"He's the most fabulous man," Su says. "He's Mr Showbiz. He just came straight in there, looking marvellous, he had a fantastic jacket on, sparkly, and his hair if gorgeous. He's very handsome, I'd have him in my house anytime."

There was another unexpected development for the stars while they were in Vegas - the mass shooting at Mandalay Bay.

"It was really horrendous," Jess admits. "Because everyone was so devastated, we all kind of decided that the show must go on."

MONDAY

Lenny Henry: The Commonwealth Kid BBC1, 9pm

Lenny Henry was born in Dudley in the West Midlands, but prefers to describe himself as a Commonwealth kid, the son of Jamaican parents who came to the UK as part of the post-Windrush generation in 1957. As a result, he's perhaps perfectly placed to present this documentary, in which he explores the deep-rooted relationship between the crown, the Commonwealth and its 2.3 billion people. He begins by touring the Caribbean, stopping off in the Bahamas and Jamaica, where he hears what being a part of this league of nations means to ordinary people, from street vendors to teachers and students. Henry also examines the wider relationship between all of the people of the Commonwealth, and what binds them together.

"Service you expect from the Agent that delivers"

Picanto X is a little chunkier than its non-X siblings in the range

X marks the spot where Kia has added extra to Picanto

By Carmel Stewart

Powered by its tried and tested 1.25litre petrol engine, the Korean built, front-wheel-drive Picanto X city-sized car has a number of additional goodies which sets it above others in the same segment.

Perhaps most important to modern-day drivers is the connectivity package – a seven-inch touchscreen display plus satellite navigation with Android Auto and Apple CarPlay fitted as standard.

In appearance, the Picanto X is a little chunkier than its non-X siblings in the range being longer, wider and taller with increased ground clearance, black side sill mouldings and wheel-arch cladding, silver skid plates beneath the SUV style front and rear bumpers and twin exhaust outlets.

Those who travel with tape measures (and there are those who do) will note that we are talking millimetres here – 75mm longer, 30mm wider and 15mm taller with a 35mm longer front overhang and a 40mm greater rear overhang.

In addition, all on-board have slightly raised seating positions (15mm) on grey faux leather upholstery. Boot space adds up to a comfortable 255litres which ups to more than 1,000 litres with the rear seat back dropped flat.

The grille and fog lamp surrounds are finished with lime green highlights – a colour repeated inside with the stitching round the steering wheel, gear lever gaiter and armrests.

On the road, all is neat and tidy, compact, composed and well suited to the town centres for which it is designed and, at £12,595, it offers relatively inexpensive transport for five.

Buyers can opt for the standard fit five-speed manual transmission or pay a tad more for the four-speed auto at £13,245. Both come with a very decent spec list and, as with all Kias, an unbeatable seven-year fully transferable warranty which is such a big plus on the sales front that it is a wonder more manufacturers don't do the same.

With 16-inch alloys, satin chrome highlights, privacy glass on the rear windows and tailgate, LED daytime running lights and rear lights plus Bluetooth and DAB radio as standard you have everything you need plus a few fancy bits besides – metal pedals, flat-bottomed steering wheel, rear parking sensors, a snazzy rear-view camera and a proper grab and lift handbrake which is so reassuring on steep hills.

Safety stuff includes six-airbags, electronic stability control and emergency braking as standard. The sparky 1.25litre 83bhp engine won't take the chequered flag at Brands Hatch but it'll get you where you need to go without breaking the bank.

Top speed clocks up at 107mpg, 0 to 60mph has been registered at 11.6mph, average fuel consumption is officially 61.4mpg and CO2 emissions 106g/km with manual gearing and an average 52.4mpg and 124 g/km with the auto box – all figures which will help the Picanto X make its mark.

The new Picanto won the Product Design award at the 2018 international iF Design Awards earlier this year as well as Best City Car in both the 2018 What Car? And Fleet World awards.

There's privacy glass on the rear windows

How great is the Hilux? Ask a farmer, builder, fencer . .

If you want to know just how reliable, hard-wearing and capable a machine the Toyota Hilux is, you can't do better than ask the people who drive them day-in, day-out. That's what makes Hilux's latest award, Professional Pick-Up and 4x4 magazine's Working Pick-Up of the Year, announced, all the more relevant and rewarding.

Unlike many other awards, these honours are determined by people who rely on their pick-ups and all-wheel drive machines every day for their business.

Judging

A more rigorous and practical judging panel would be hard to find, representing a wide range of professions and jobs including farming, fencing, plant hire, builders, road gritters, estate managers, agricultural suppliers and a professional hunter.

Hilux had to prove its mettle in a series of driving scenarios, including driving off-road and towing, in a test programme at the Carlton Towers Estate in Yorkshire.

Speaking for the team of 12 judges, Liam Campbell, Professional Pick-Up and 4x4 founder and editor, said: "The Hilux has long been regarded as the no nonsense workhorse, and this continues into the latest generation with its fantastic residual values, a

Hilux had to prove its mettle in a series of driving scenarios

3.5-tonne towing capacity and its highly regarded build quality and durability.

"However, it didn't just impress in terms of productivity and capabilities; the jury also made a note of its comfortable ride and handling on the road."

James Clark, Toyota press relations manager, said: "Hilux couldn't hope for a better commendation than to be named the best in its class from the people whose livelihoods depend on a vehicle they can rely on to do the job, every time.

"With each new generation of Hilux we have made advances in performance, comfort and safety, but never at the cost of its fundamental abilities as a tough, robust machine that can tackle the toughest working conditions."

The Bill has been introduced in the House of Commons as a public Bill. Objection to the proposed Amendments may be made by submitting a petition against them in person at the Private Bill Office of the House of Commons, Westminster, London SW1P 0AA, online through the Select Committee website at <http://www.parliament.uk/HS2-Phase2a-Committee>, by post to the Private Bill Office, House of Commons, Westminster, London SW1P 0AA or e-mail to prbohoc@parliament.uk.

In accordance with Private Business Standing Order 171B (4), the Chairman of Ways and Means has decided that any such Petition must be submitted so that it is received not later than 1pm on Friday 27 April 2018.

In the House of Lords, objection to the Bill may be made by submitting a Petition against it in the Office of the Clerk of the Parliaments within a period decided by the Chairman of Committees which is not less than 25 days after the Bill receives its first reading in that House.

Information about the deposit of such Petitions may be obtained from either the Private Bill Office, House of Commons (tel: 020 7219 3250, email: prbohoc@parliament.uk, www.parliament.uk/bills), the Office of the Clerk of the Parliaments, House of Lords (tel: 020 7219 3231, email: hlprivatebills@parliament.uk, www.parliament.uk/bills), or from the undermentioned Parliamentary Agents (tel: 020 7593 5000, www.gov.uk/hs2).

Setting the standard for a bright future ahead

CHAIRMAN Trevor Thomas believes Cradley Town have taken the first step on the road to a bright future after being awarded Charter Standard Status by the FA.

Seen as the first step of a five-year plan to transform the West Midlands Premier club's fortunes, it follows months of hard work by Thomas and his committee.

Future plans include a redevelopment of its Beeches View Avenue home, while continuing to grow the club's new academy.

Thomas, who has been at helm for 25 years, said: "This is massive for us, the first step in what promises to be a long journey."

"I'm excited about the future. I want the club to become a trademark for success." Central to the club's plans is the academy, which launched this season and is currently based at Tividale's Ormiston School. Thomas's long-term hope is for it to be housed at Beeches View. The immediate aim is for the academy to gain FA youth club status.

Cradley are also targeting an improvement at first-team level with Thomas hopeful they can climb 'one or two' levels. The Hammers expect to name a new permanent manager by the end of the month.

Richard Forsyth is in temporary charge until the end of the season, following Andy Wytton's resignation last month.

City court Key for former champion's Classic return

US OPEN finalist Madison Keys will join British No.1 Johanna Konta for this year's Birmingham Classic at the Edgbaston Priory Club.

The 23-year-old American, who lost her first Grand Slam final to compatriot Sloane Stephens last year, won the Birmingham Classic tournament in 2016.

She will face stern competition to regain her crown with two-time Wimbledon champion Petra Kvitová and reigning Wimbledon champion Garbiñe Muguruza also set to compete.

Keys missed last year's tournament through injury, and is keen on making a comeback at this year's event, which will be played from June 18-24.

"I feel like I've played some of my best tennis on grass and I have really fond memories of winning in Birmingham two years ago," said Keys.

"It was a really big result for me at the time and although a lot has happened since then, including making my first Grand Slam final last year, I took a lot from that week."

"I was really sad not to be able to play in Birmingham last year and defend that title so it makes me really happy to be able to come back and play there again."

Same school, now players are sharing same goals

Aiden Stone

Adam Legzdins

MOST schools would be pleased to produce one professional footballer from their ranks – but one Staffordshire school has produced two, both playing in the same position... and at the same Premier League club.

Former scholars at Wolgarston High School, Penkridge, Aiden Stone and Adam Legzdins are goalkeepers at Burnley.

Stone, who hails from Hednesford, is making his way in the game after being spotted playing for Brocton as a 17-year-old in Midland League Division One.

Now a year older, he is building his reputation with the Turf Moor club's under-23s – and has been given a taste of first-team involvement after being included in Sean Dyche's senior squad for the trip to Anfield earlier this season. He was also in the squad for a League Cup tie at Leeds.

Legzdins, meanwhile, has been there and done it at the age of 31 in a career which saw him join Birmingham City 13 years ago before a series of loans to non-league clubs, followed by stints at Oldham and Crewe before joining Burton Albion, Derby County and Leyton Orient, eventually returning to Blues as a back-up keeper to Tomasz Kuszczak.

Unreal

He joined Burnley last year and the two work closely together behind current No.1 Nick Pope, injured first choice shot-stopper Tom Heaton and former Manchester United and Albion stopper Anders Lindegaard.

Stone said of the past 12 months. "It's been unreal. It's been intense because I've gone from training once a week and playing a game on a Saturday at Brocton to training every day."

"It is hard work but you have got to work hard if you want to be a professional and I want this to be my career."

Former Blues glovesman Legzdins was born in Penkridge and the duo attended the same school. He is tipping Stone to have a long career in the game.

"My best friend is the head of PE at Wolgarston. He asked me to go in and put on a session for the goalkeepers so that is the first time we met," Legzdins added. "I could tell he had potential straight away."

Stone now faces a huge couple of months. Out of contract in the summer, he aims to win a new deal at Turf Moor, then gain some first-team experience by going out on loan.

Basketball club realising all its hoops and dreams

The 99ers' growth has been staggering

A BASKETBALL team is jumping through hoops following a stunning year of growth.

Walsall 99ers, formed just over 12 months ago with the aim of developing the sport in the area, have been staggered by their success.

Around five people originally signed up, but now the 99ers have more than 300 players on their books from the age of five up to seniors.

A host of training sessions take place across four days at the Bloxwich Active Living Centre with the club keen to further extend their playing numbers.

Managing director Alan Caron is delighted with how the club has progressed over the past year and hopes they can continue improving and developing.

He said: "We formed about 12 months ago and we became one of the first basketball teams in the region."

"At first, there was only a few players turning up for training and games whereas now, we have over 300 people on our books – it's excellent."

Response

"Walsall is an untapped area for basketball and the response has been fantastic."

"I consider it a massive achievement for ourselves. I think Walsall has a secret admiration for basketball, it's brilliant."

"It's now about us growing the sport further and going into schools to help promote the club and let people know we are out there."

The Walsall 99ers doesn't just feature basketball, but a range of different sports covering all ages. The club also hosts walking football, dodgeball, handball, walking basketball and wheelchair basketball which brings a community feel to the area.

The 99ers' first team and development squad both play in the same division in the Youth Basketball League. The development squad currently acts as a second team which features a host of youngsters around the age of 17, and players who have a pure love for the sport.

With two games left to play, against West Bromwich Basketball Club and Walsall Warriors II, the development side was still in the hunt for glory, hoping to cement a play-off spot as the business end of the season draws near.

"We have a vital games coming up," said Caron. "It would be a great achievement if we managed to do get into the play-off finals."

The 99ers also have high hopes to introduce more teams across the domestic leagues, with the possibility of adding an under-19s squad to the mix go along with their already impressive youth system, which includes sides from under-11 up to under-17.

The long-term aim would be to see the under-19s move out of the academy set-up and into the first-team leagues to support both of their successful development and senior squads.

"It's been great to see over the season a number of players develop within the pathway programme," added Caron.

"The under-17s have been playing up in the senior programme and playing key roles in the games."

The club holds various training sessions at the Bloxwich Active Living Centre, High Street, Bloxwich on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings and also runs a Saturday club at the same venue.

Anyone wishing to join the club or attend one of the sessions should contact Alan Caron on 07879 861011.

Further details can be found on the club's website at www.walsall99ers.com or on Twitter @walsall99ers.

Ladies' team in play-offs to avoid drop

CANNOCK Ladies' first XI had a tough weekend of hockey knowing they needed points to secure their place in NL next season. They travelled to Gloucester on Saturday, but despite one of their best performances of the season, conceded in the final quarter to lose 1-0.

On Sunday they welcomed title contenders Reading to Chase Park. But after conceding three goals in quick succession, went down 5-0 and are now in the relegation play-offs.

Cannock L2s 6 Matlock 1

CANNOCK ladies 2's found themselves in a relegation battle after points deducted midweek for league infringement. But they made Matlock pay, with goals from Lou Humphrey (2), Sophie Tibbetts (2), Becky Bradley and Nic George.

Cannock L3s 2 Lichfield 1

THREE points gives Cannock second place in the league. Goals came from Hannah Cole and Jade Hitchens.

Cannock L4s 3 Lichfield 3

COURTNEY Hill hit a hat-trick to earn a draw for Cannock.

Cannock L5s 3 WATs 0

THE curtain came down on the season with goals from Nicole Rose, Mary O'Brien and Georgia Lloyd.

Cannock M5s 5 North Staffs 0

KARL Bayliss opened the scoring, and later added a second. Other strikes came from Derek Prince, Bruce Alcock and Dave Wigg.

Cannock M5s 1 Bridgnorth 4

GARY Jones scored and also had a goal disallowed for Cannock.

Season's best as Hayes come away with three points

Littleton FC 0 Heath Hayes 2

A MUCH-changed Hayes side gave one of their best performances of the season to take all three points at Littleton.

Credit must go to the hosts for providing a good, firm playing surface following all the recent wet weather.

Littleton started in the ascendancy and took the game to Hayes half from the off. But visitors' reshuffled defence coped well.

In the 33rd minute, a break down the right saw the Littleton keeper, under pressure from Connor Haddaway, complete what could only be described in golfing terms as an air-shot. Haddaway seized the opportunity to move onto the loose ball and lay it back to Brad Rolston for an easy tap in to an empty net.

In the 72nd minute a frustrated Littleton defence conceded an unnecessary free kick centrally 25 yards from goal. James McGready confidently placed the ball beyond the keeper's reach.

Hayes have two home games over the Easter weekend, hosting Heather St John on Saturday and Stafford Town on Monday.

Scholars in thick of promotion race

Chasetown 3 Carlton 0

THERE is still plenty of football to be played – but a good season may yet turn out to be a great one for Chasetown.

It's been a whirlwind year for the Scholars, who only had goalkeeper Curtis Pond on their books when Scott Dundas was appointed manager last May.

Now they are in the thick of a promotion race having jumped back into the play-off places in Evo-Stik Division One South with this victory on Saturday. After losing to Lincoln United at the beginning of the month, the Scholars then slipped to defeat against Bedworth – with Dundas slamming that performance as the worst of the season.

They regained some of their rhythm against Cleethorpes last Tuesday, only to concede a 97th-minute equaliser in a 1-1 draw.

And they followed up with this comfortable victory against the Millers.

Right from the off, Chasetown seized control and took the lead after just nine minutes when Jake Lovatt emphatically fired in from close range. It was no surprise to see the advantage doubled, through a Danny Cocks volley. Cocks then played in George Cater for the Scholars' third.

Skipper Jack Langston should have grabbed a fourth when he neatly lifted the ball over a defender's head before firing wide from eight yards.

Scholars travel to Stamford on Saturday before taking on Romulus at the Scholars' ground on Easter Monday.

GLOVER BRACE EARNS POINT

Buxton 2 Hednesford Town 2

TWO second-half goals from Danny Glover saw the Pitmen earn a point on the road at Buxton.

It was an end-to-end start on Saturday with Matt Baker flashing a free-kick wide for the hosts in the second minute before Anthony Dwyer fired a shot over five minutes later for Town.

Hednesford goalkeeper James Wren was called into action in the 17th minute as he made a low save from Liam Hardy.

In the 29th minute, Dwyer – who signed last week from Telford – stole the ball from the home side before playing a neat one-two with Joey Butlin and seeing his shot saved by Buxton's former Wolves goalkeeper Jan Budtz.

The best chance of the half came from the home side's Hardy in the 39th minute, but his shot was straight at Wren from 10 yards.

Steadied

Pitmen shot-stopper Wren was called into action twice at the start of the second half before the visitors took the lead in the 52nd minute when a cross from Butlin wasn't dealt with and Glover steadied himself before firing home from 15 yards.

The lead would last just six minutes as a ball over the top saw Hednesford appeal for offside, but Hardy was able to advance and fire past Wren to bring his side level.

The hosts edged ahead in the 72nd minute when a corner was flicked on, leaving Hardy with a free header at the back post – which he cushioned into the net.

Hednesford thought that they had drawn level three minutes later when Glover fired home, but he was deemed to be offside – despite the shot taking a deflection off the hosts' defender. But Glover did find the net with four minutes left to earn a share of the spoils.

Pitmen visit Witton Albion on Saturday and face Rushall Olympic in an Easter Monday derby.

Groves packs punch with fans

WBA super-middleweight champion George Groves, right, with Richie Woodhall

BOXING fans got an insight into what it takes to reach the top of the sport when world champion George Groves visited Cannock.

The WBA super-middleweight champion was the latest star to appear at Bar Sport's Premier Suite. Floyd Mayweather Jnr, Evander Holyfield, Sugar Ray Leonard, Nigel Benn and Chris Eubank have also been guests at the High Green venue in recent years.

Groves, aged 29, is firmly in the spotlight after last month's victory over Chris Eubank Jr, which set-up a mouth-watering showdown with Callum Smith in the Super Series final later this year. Groves was interviewed by former super-middleweight champion Richie Woodhall about his career and aims for the future.

The Londoner also revealed how the Midlands has always held a place in his heart after winning his first schoolboy title in Birmingham at the age of 11.

He said: "We boxed at a tiny working men's club. That is one time I boxed in the Midlands which clearly sticks in my mind. It was a big deal for me back then."

Groves also posed for photographs with fans.

Lead cut as visitors do the double

Burntwood 17 Stafford 24

STAFFORD completed the double over Burntwood to trim their lead at the top of M3WN.

The visitors had led 24-3 but Sean Latham's side battled back to prevent Stafford gaining a bonus point try and secured a vital losing bonus point.

Aza Dunet put his side ahead after two minutes with a well-struck penalty goal from near the visitors' 10-metre line. Stafford moved ahead on 15 minutes with a converted try.

When Neil Holden was yellow carded for a high tackle, the resulting penalty was converted for 10-3 Stafford.

The visitors took advantage of their extra man on the half hour mark with a try in the corner, converted.

The numbers were evened up close to half-time when Stafford lost a player to the sin bin for deliberate offside.

A fumble at the kick-off to the second half saw Stafford regain possession and a favourable bounce ended with a try in the right corner and the extras added.

Burntwood hit back strongly but without reward until the 62nd minute when Luke Rookyard squeezed over in the corner for a try, which Dunet converted.

Rookyard's effort from a close range tapped penalty did not result in a try but it did cost Stafford a player to the sin bin on 70 minutes. Tom O'Brien scored a try and Dunet converted.

Stafford Development XV, top of the Staffs Reserve League, beat Burntwood 2nds 52-5 at Stafford.

Twins raring to go for new campaign

HEDNESFORD racing twins Matt and Kurt Wigley are raring to go for the opening British Superbike round at Donington Park this weekend.

Kurt, aged 22, will be back to compete in the British Supersport class following an inconsistent season last year. Brother Matt, who missed most of the 2017 campaign through injury, is set to move from the National Superstock 1000 class to the newly-formed British GP2 class.

Round one of BSB includes the British Motostar, British Talent Cup, British Supersport, British GP2 and National Superstock 1000 on the under card.
